

Energy plea—less heat, lighting, speed, return to coal

Sacrifice by all Americans to cope with this winter's fuel shortage—and to achieve national energy self-sufficiency by 1980—was called for by President Richard M. Nixon last night.

He asked for a 15 per cent reduction in heating of homes and offices, with temperatures set at 65 to 68 degrees in the White House and federal offices.

He urged all to lower their thermostats by at least six degrees, and asked stores, schools and factories to adjust their hours, lighting and operating schedules.

A 50-miles-an-hour speed limit was imposed on federal vehicles and was proposed for new Congressional, state and local laws.

Year-round daylight saving time was recommended.

Pres. Nixon asked that coal-burning industries and utilities not convert to oil, and that some switch back to coal, with environmental restrictions delayed. He requested a new Energy Research and Development Administration.

Ten per cent of jet airplane flights need to be eliminated, he said. He called for prompt construction of a pipeline across Alaska, and urged faster licensing and construction of nuclear power plants.

With some staggering of shifts there could be fuller utilization of mass transit and car pools, reducing one-occupant auto usage, the nation was told in his televised address.

Noting that a speed limit of 50 could immediately save 200,000 barrels of oil a day, Mr. Nixon said Naval petroleum research can provide 160,000 and also has shown the potential natural gas reserves and vast supplies of coal, oil shale and other U. S. resources.

Saying "spirit and determination are half the battle," the President likened the present "energy crisis" to the World War II era.

He said it stems from both war—the 1973 Middle East war—and related curtailment of oil production—and from peace, which has brought abundance of new luxuries and faster use of energy.

Public cooperation to offset the fuel shortage was called essential so that farms can continue to produce enough food and businesses can continue to provide enough jobs. He said employment is now near 86 million.

Failure of the steps outlined could lead to gasoline rationing and heating oil rationing or increased gasoline taxation, he said.

The President concluded by stressing that he will not resign despite the belief of some that he should.

He pledged to try to restore public confidence.

In response to the President's energy message, Gov. Walter C. Gilmer ordered lowering of thermostats and a general lights-out-at-night policy in all state buildings.

He also ordered a 55 speed limit for state vehicles and gradual purchase of smaller autos.

Medical referrals studied

Local physicians are receptive to the establishment of a medical referral service to aid Quad-Cityans in locating a family doctor, they said yesterday.

Hosting a breakfast at Charlie's Restaurant as part of a monthly discussion series held by Granite City Rotarians' Prayer and Community Action Group, members of the Tri-City Medical Society said they are confident that details can be worked out for referrals.

As tentatively planned at yesterday's meeting, residents lacking a family doctor are to call a telephone number yet to be announced.

The secretary who answers will read a list of the doctors currently accepting additional patients.

A preliminary step in creating the referral service will be preparation and signing of appropriate forms and statements by participating doctors.

The Prayer Group's study of health entrance needs had brought out that some Quad-Cityans have reported problems in obtaining a regular doctor to care for their health needs.

While some physicians have stopped accepting new patients and others limit their practices to specialties, many others are able and willing to accept additional patients, this week's discussion showed.

Medical ethics prevent direct disclosure of their names, but referral services are an accepted means of relating such information.

Hospital officials said Wednesday they are willing to cooperate in providing information to the public, after the service is started.

Many physicians were present and indicated active interest in Quad-City area needs. It was noted that they conferred at an earlier gathering with Carl E. Mathias, representing the Prayer and Community Action Group.

In addition to the proposed referral service, there are tentative plans to meet with labor groups to explain available medical assistance, and to discuss methods of providing individual health care to small and medium size firms and utilities.

It was brought out that while doctor shortages are reported nationally as well as regionally, the Quad-Cities have the advantage of being located within a major metropolitan area and also could attract doctors by expanded social-recreational residential opportunities.

Availability of family physicians was described as

GC Board votes for Belleville

The Quad-City public is to confer from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Venice Recreation Center with representatives of the Illinois Community College Board and advisory committee.

The visitors from Springfield met at lunch today at the Granite City Army Installation with Quad-City and Collinsville mayors and school superintendents and the Junior College Study Committee created by the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

State law authorizes placement of non-district territory into junior college districts.

Citizens here have indicated a preference for a new junior college district, to be called Southwestern. The ICCB staff recommended rejection, and the state board deferred action from Oct. 19 to Nov. 16, pending today's discussion.

The Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night adopted a resolution asking that the ICCB place School District No. 9 within the Belleville Area College territory.

Similar action was taken earlier by the Madison school board, and the Venice board also is believed to favor BAC.

Gov. Dan Walker in a letter this week to Roy W. Brune, ICCB chairman, told of meeting "with Sen. Vadala and community leaders of Granite City last week who were concerned about the establishment of a junior college district for their area."

"As I'm sure you know, I do not feel it is appropriate for a governor to interfere in matters under the statutory jurisdiction of any board of higher education," Gov. Walker related.

"I was informed at the meeting, however, that some of your board members may be under the impression that I have established a policy of minimum standards for the creation of 'Class I' junior college districts."

"I believe my vote message of Senate Bill 811 was cited in this regard. My reference to existing board policy for new districts in the message was merely a restatement of your

Brighter Madison streets are voted

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer

Plans to upgrade the street lighting system in Madison by installing 55,000-lumen lights at every intersection in the city were disclosed at a meeting of the City Council Tuesday night.

The new street lights which would give five times the lighting of 11,000-lumen lights now in use have been tested for several months at six street intersections, the council was told.

Council members said they believed the project would well be worth the additional cost of $450 per month in power bills in view of the added protection such lighting would afford.

Final approval of the project is expected as soon as exact costs are determined.

Second Ward Aldermen Richard Kisser and Donald Broyles requested an alley light be installed in the 1600 block of Second street.

Third Ward Alderman Ray Kozielek requested two lights in the vicinity of St. Mary's School and Church. Kozielek noted that groups are congregating at night around the church and school.

A resolution in compliance with the National Flood Insurance Act was passed on a motion by Kozielek, seconded by Aldermen Paul Ashford, allowing insurance agents in Madison to write flood insurance, as certain areas are subject to periodic flooding.

Authorization was granted by the council for the city to advertise for bids for two new police cars to replace the two oldest vehicles. The motion was made by Fourth Ward Alderman Mike Sikora and seconded by First Ward Alderman Robert Reeves.

On a motion by Kisser and a second by Broyles, a winter clothing appropriation of $1,302 for police officers was approved. Purchase of a new radar unit to help control speeding on Madison avenue also was authorized.

City Attorney Casper S. Nighonoshian reported to the council on a city zoning commission meeting with representatives of the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC) concerning preparation of a zoning ordinance and updating the building code.

Purpose of the zoning is to make the best possible use of land within the city. Nighonoshian explained that if the city does not adopt a zoning ordinance, the county can do so.

He further suggested the City Council begin work on a housing code to regulate structures already in existence.

In other action, the council approved bills of $20,197 for the period Oct. 24 to Nov. 6. A bill of $46 from the Madison County Sheriff's department for the serving of condensation papers also was approved.

A discussion on the possibility

City funds running out

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City faces the prospect of deficit financing in its general fund for the first time in many years, it was learned this week after the City Council agreed in regular meeting Monday night to continue work on a series of sewer break repairs in the Nameki area under a contract with an East St. Louis firm.

Decision not to interrupt the work program came at the same time that Street Superintendent Lionel Portell reported the city's 16th sanitary sewer break in the 3200 block of Fehling Road between Fehling and Colgate Place. Portell said the break is a major one with a portion of the line "completely collapsed."

Although Alderman Walter Nann suggested Monday night that the council "take a new look" at the repair program, the council approved another claim for $21,775 for the Finist Ernest Co. of East St. Louis which has been doing the repair work under a unit price agreement.

Approval of that bill brought to $723,890 the total paid the Ernest firm since it began repair work in July on 15 separate sewer breaks in lines in the Nameki area. Portell said four breaks still are to be repaired, not including the new

Longtime county clerk to retire

In a surprise announcement Tuesday morning, Miss Eulalia M. Hotz, incumbent Democratic Madison County Clerk since 1942, announced she will retire when her current term expires on the first Monday of December, 1974.

"At the end of this term I will be 64 years old and I want some time out to have some fun," Miss Hotz said during a press conference at Edwardsville.

She announced her support of Miss Evelyn Bowles, her present chief deputy, to succeed her. "Because I feel she has the expertise and ability to continue the good service for which this office is known."

Miss Hotz was a part-time clerk in the clerk's office from 1928 through 1933 for her father, Joseph Hotz, who was county clerk.

Role of Army base growing

The local Army base established 31 years ago is here to stay, Granite Cityans were told Tuesday by Col. Donald Elmore, commanding officer.

Due to steady and substantial expansion of the contracting and support services it renders to defense and other federal agencies throughout the St. Louis metropolitan area, there is virtually no surplus property left—either land or buildings.

And there will be a big employment increase if the scheduled construction of 200 new apartments takes place, and if other elements of the present ten-year plan are carried out, Col. Elmore said at this week's Granite City Rotary Club luncheon.

He was introduced by Mayor Paul Schuler, program chairman.

Originally known as the Granite City Engineer Depot and then the Granite City Army Depot, the 952-acre base between the Mississippi River and Federal Aid Route 151 (Grant River Road) now has several names and its commandant "wears several hats."

It has been designated as Headquarters, Installation and Support Activity, for the metropolitan region and also as the U. S. Army St. Louis Area Support Center.

In addition to commanding those programs, Col. Elmore serves as director, Installation and Services, Army Aviation Systems Command, with troops assigned here and at Lambert Airport for maintenance of a variety of aircraft.

Surveys by the Office of the Secretary of Defense have led to the expansion of local services, each based on a specific need of federal government, the officer related.

For example, the housing demand for officers and enlisted men exists, but it has not been fully satisfied because many did not accept Granite City installation apartments due to their small size, he said.

Now a Class II base, the local installation is not rated as Class I because it does not handle employment functions; these duties are handled by the Civil Service Commission in St. Louis and by Avscom's Civilian Personnel Office.

The present staff here includes 28 military personnel and 275 civilians. Col. Elmore also directs the work of 225 civilians in Missouri.

The base serves 27 Defense Department agencies, including the Navy and Marines, and has 38 letters of agreement with services and departments, including the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Contracting alone exceeds a million dollars each month.

In providing a post exchange, theater, commissary and other support facilities, the Granite City base serves 1,700 active military personnel and 18,000 retirees located in this metropolitan area.

It supervises 186 family housing units, including 112 on Goodfellow Blvd. in St. Louis. The installation has 67,219 pieces of equipment and is accountable for property worth $9 million.

If additional apartments are built here—a decision now at the Department of the Army level—the number of Army installation jobs will grow protested that the levee district would not accomplish such a project in this area and the "only way we will get anything from the levee district is to split it and form our own district."

Daves said he believed the levee district could get together with the state and take over the construction work, financed with an appropriation provided by the General Assembly for building the levee by the waterways division.

The council voted—with Whitmer casting the only dissenting vote—to instruct City Clerk Robert Stevens to suggest the proposal to the levee district and ask its cooperation in building the drainage line.

The proposal was outlined at Wednesday's levee board meeting by Mrs. Hawkins, followed by appointment of the committee to look into the matter.

United Way passes 96%

United Way receipts are slowly moving upward and have passed the $384,000 mark, or 96 per cent.

A report luncheon has been set for noon Wednesday, Nov. 14, at the YMCA. At the tally to be made at 10 a.m. that day, all non-industrial contributions in the first two weeks of November will be increased by a 50 per cent allocation from Granite City Steel.

At the most recent report meeting Oct. 31, pledges totaled $277,754 or 94.4 per cent of the basic $400,000 goal.

Those who wish to submit a pledge are being asked to contact the Tri-Cities Area United Way office at 2021 Edison Ave. (telephone 977-6760).

Alfalfa weevil still problem

By JAMES H. SHERL
U. of I. Extension Adviser
If warm days continue during November, Madison County farmers may get one more shot at one of their most annoying enemies, the alfalfa weevil.

Alfalfa weevil adults and larvae attack alfalfa plants starting in early spring and continuing through the entire growing season. With alfalfa being one of the major sources of animal feed protein, this is a serious problem.

If an alfalfa field is not carefully watched, the entire field can be ruined in just a few days. Alfalfa weevils are present in the majority of the alfalfa fields in Madison County, and in many cases they do severe economic harm.

Sprays, when applied with proper timing, have proven effective for control during spring and summer months. However, research work in recent years has shown that sprays to control the adult weevil during egg laying season in late fall may have a number of economic advantages.

Early to mid-November insecticide applications kill adult alfalfa weevils before they have a chance to lay many eggs. The fewer eggs laid this fall, the fewer weevils around next spring.

Late-fall treatments avoid killing many of the natural parasites and predators that help keep weevil populations in check. Effective late-fall treatments can also eliminate need for spring applications which usually come during the busy planting season.

Methyl parathion, carbofuran (Furadan), Supracide or Buthion—all used at the rate of 1/2 pound actual-ingredient per acre—or Imdan used at the rate of one pound per acre, will control alfalfa weevils this fall. Effective insecticide combinations are malathion-methoxychlor and diazinon-methoxychlor (Alfatos).

The key to effective control during fall application is getting enough warm days to stimulate alfalfa weevil movement. If warm days do not exist, it will not be economical to spray. Adult weevils may be burrowed under foliage during cold days and thus not reached by the insecticide.

For best results, apply the insecticide or combination when the average daytime temperature stays above 45 degrees for at least two days after treatment.

Price cites freight car shortages

Congressman Price has notified the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the head of the Federal Railroad Administration of his concern over a shortage of railroad freight cars facing farmers in Illinois and the rest of the country.

"The shortage contributes to a situation where agricultural producers are unable to keep up with rising consumer demand," said the local congressman, "and this results in higher prices for the consumer."

"At the moment the shortage is being felt by grain producing states," he noted. "But after the corn and soybean harvests, it will hit others as well."

Department of Agriculture reports show that Illinois is one of the states currently in need of more freight cars.

"In addition to any agency action which may be taken," said Rep. Price, "Congress can help alleviate the shortage by enacting legislation aimed at financing construction of more railroad cars."

Price has written Roy Ash, director of the Office of Management and Budget, concerning proposed reduction or elimination of funds available under Title III of the Water Resources Planning Act.

"The program has been most successful in Illinois," Rep. Price told Ash. "Reduction of these funds now would be harmful to effective planning or implementation of comprehensive water resource development."

Title III of the Water Resources Planning Act authorizes federal grants for water conservation planning and projects.

Rep. Price, who is chairman of House Armed Services Subcommittee No. 1, has visited Scott Air Force Base with members of the subcommittee. Among the subcommittee's activities was a review of Military Airlift Command operations during the 1973 Middle East crisis and the resulting military alert.

Price has spoken in favor of extension of the Drug Abuse Education Act. The legislation includes a three-year, $90 million authorization for federal, state and community sponsored drug abuse education projects.

Referring to recent national and international crises, he said, "While these matters should rightly be the concern of all citizens, we cannot turn our backs on other problems which are also growing in our hometowns throughout the nation."

The congressman emphasized that the greatest hope for ending excessive use of drugs is preventive education among every sector of society.

Briggs and Eftimoff will seek county school post

Harold E. "Gene" Briggs, 47, Granite City, first assistant to Madison County School Supt. Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, said Wednesday he will seek the Democratic nomination for election to the office.

He expects to be elevated to the post Nov. 20 when Trimpe becomes president of Lewis and Clark Community College.

Trimpe has headed the county educational service region since 1968, when then County Supt. George T. Wilkins was elected as state superintendent of public instruction.

There is some belief that the county superintendent vacancy is not filled automatically and that the successor is determined by a vote of the County Board.

Contenders for such selection, in addition to Briggs, will include Vasil Eftimoff, 49, director of pupil personnel services in the Granite City School District, who was learned today.

A former teacher and principal here, Eftimoff at one time taught out-of-town and served as a member of the Granite City School Board for five and a half years.

Eftimoff and his wife, Anita, are the parents of a son, James, a student at Coolidge Junior High School.

As a member of the local school district's administrative staff, Eftimoff was instrumental in development and analysis of new special education programs. He has experience as a classroom teacher at the high school, junior high and elementary school levels.

Briggs, formerly principal of Mitchell Grade School for ten years and Stalling School for one year, has been in the county position for seven and a half years. His wife, Elizabeth, is a Parkview School kindergarten teacher.

A retired Marine Corps lieutenant colonel, Briggs served in the Korean war.

News notes

Edward H. Jenison, 66, editor of the Paris Beacon-News, is to serve on the Illinois House in place of William D. Cox, who has been sentenced for tax fraud.

Rescinding of a call for an election on restoring judicial review to partisan politics, voted by the Senate, was proved 16-1 Tuesday by the Illinois House Judiciary Committee. If the full House concurs, there will be no change in present court election methods.

With most members absent, the Illinois House this week is hearing explanations of a variety of proposals for disclosure of campaign funds.

Former U.S. Sen. Paul Simon may announce next Wednesday in Carbondale that he will seek the Congressional seat which U.S. Rep. Joseph Gray said Tuesday he will vacate.

The Madison County state's attorney's staff is checking allegations that some chemical supply company salesmen have been paying to some public officials in Illinois. One of the geographic areas under study is Edwardsville.

Former U.S. Attorney General Richard said Tuesday he has asked Illinois Republicans to withdraw his name from consideration as a possible candidate against Sen. Adlai Stevenson III. He said he is "firmly identified with Massachusetts" and would feel "a carpetbagger in Illinois."

Centerville Township Supervisor Francis Teuchette, a Democrat, was elected Tuesday night as new chairman of the Madison County Board, replacing Francis "Red" Foley, who died Oct. 31.

A 60-day limit of Presidential war-making power became law Wednesday as the House and Senate voted to override a veto.

The Nov. 21 Madison County Board meeting has been delayed to Nov. 28 to give more time for preparation of the new annual budget and negotiations with employees. Workers may reject a three per cent wage raise proposal at meetings this afternoon at the Courthouse.

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott filed suit Wednesday against 14 construction firms accused of rigging in work on Interstate 74. He said the state may recover several hundred thousand dollars.

Sen. George McGovern, 1972 Democratic Presidential nominee, said Wednesday he feels vindicated by what has happened in the year since the election. He added, "But it doesn't make me happy to be proved right that this is the most corrupt administration in history." He expects impeachment or resignation of Pres. Nixon "in a few months."

Let the doctor diagnose case

By IRWIN J. FOLEY, M.D.

"I think I am in heart failure. I want an ECG to find out. Will you do this for me?"

The patient was a 45-year-old businessman. He was described in the community as aggressive, dynamic and sometimes in terms less complimentary. Nevertheless, he had built his small business into one of the largest in the state. Now he had a problem. I started by answering his question.

"No, I won't authorize that," I readied myself for the outburst and sure enough, it came.

"What do you mean I can't have a cardiogram? I came to you because you are my doctor and I thought you could help me. Now you tell me I can't have that test? I know I need it. He roared on this vein for a minute or so more, in a fashion quite typical of him.

When I had his attention again, I started to explain. "What are you upset about? You came into my office with your own diagnosis already in hand, looking for someone to agree to it. You even demanded a test to help establish the diagnosis. In that way to treat your doctor? Would you like if I came into your place of business and told you how to run it?"

He backed down a little. "Well, I guess that's right. But I still don't see why I can't have my ECG."

I explained that an ECG is not the test used to diagnose heart failure. ECG merely electrocardiogram. It is a recording device that measures the electrical output of the heart while it beats.

The heart muscle generates a very small electrical current in beating. The current passes along the surface of the heart and through the heart muscle itself. If there is a block, scarred or dead section of heart muscle, this shows up on the ECG tracing.

So a doctor uses the cardiogram to get an electrical picture of the structure of the heart muscle. It also tells about the rate and rhythm of the heart beat. But the ECG does not tell how strongly the heart is beating; so it is not a test for heart failure.

Heart failure occurs when the heart gets behind in its work. The work of the heart is to push the blood around the body. If the heart falls behind in its work, blood and fluid pool in the lungs and in the rest of the body, especially the legs. The diagnosis of heart failure is made by physical examination not by electrical gadgetry. Nor, does the electrocardiogram tell anything about blood pressure. This has to be determined with a blood pressure cuff and gauge.

As I explained all of this to my businessman-patient, he began to get the facts. Let's begin where we should have begun in the first place. What is your specific health complaint?"

His complaint was a sore feeling deep in his chest which came after a full meal, and sometimes woke him from a sound sleep. This did not paralyze his sound like heart trouble to me and I told him, recommending that he come back at a later date for a complete evaluation of the problem. I mentioned that an ECG would be done to compare with his previous one and to keep on record in case he developed any real suggestion of heart trouble later.

He left me with a final businessman's comment, "There you go, Doc, I came in for a test for heart failure and you just sold me a complete checkup." Some people don't want to understand.

GC boy admits 10 burglaries

A 15-year-old Granite City boy, being held at the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home at Edwardsville, this week admitted the burglaries of 10 local garages in which more than $3,600 worth of items were taken while he roams.

Granite City police recovered items worth more than $1,000 from the basement of the boy's house, but believe the missing items either were sold or given away.

The boy was arrested this week following lengthy investigations. He has been charged with a violation of the state's juvenile code.

Garages which the boy admits looting were those of Richard Bollinger, 2634 Adams St., Wayne Crawford, 2453 Benton St., Louis Rains, 2001

Moss withdraws from board race

Floyd David Moss, mayor of Pontoon Beach, has withdrawn his name from the race for the District 26 County Board race. Both Moss and Edgar Patrick, Nameoki Township tax collector, had indicated they planned to oppose incumbent Louis Whitsell in February's board election.

In his statement withdrawing from contention, Moss said he will support Patrick in the election. Moss's statement to the Press-Record follows: "In response to the many requests I have received, I would like to state that I will not be a candidate for the office of County Board Member of District 26 in the February election."

"At this time I feel it is necessary to devote my full attention to the duties of the office of mayor of Pontoon Beach and precinct committee. "I would like to express my support for another candidate, Edgar Patrick. I feel he has the time to devote to being the best county board representative we could possibly have."

"I urge all my supporters to do as I will do and support my friend Edgar Patrick for county board member."

Whitsell seeks re-election to County Board

It is being formally announced that Louis E. Whitsell will seek re-election as Madison County Board member of District 26. Whitsell's campaign manager, George Gavlick, said today.

"Lou has the endorsement of the Nameoki Township Truth and Action Party, fellow Democrats, the Citizens for Better Government and many of his colleagues presently on the County Board," Gavlick said.

"In the short period that he has served on the County Board, he has earned the reputation as the people's representative. Whitsell is chairman of the Madison County Parks, chairman of the Education Committee and chairman of the County Museum Committee."

"He serves as a member of the Executive Committee, the Land Use, Building and Zoning Committee and the four-township Sanitary Sewer Committee and was on a special drainage fact-finding committee. He is the present supervisor of Nameoki Township.

"Unfortunately, this will be another special election to be held on Feb. 12, 1974," Gavlick said. "In this special election it is very important that all of the electors are encouraged to vote."

"To help encourage the voters to go to the polls, I have appointed precinct chairmen to assist me in promoting Lou Whitsell on his record," Gavlick said they are Mrs. Helen Hawkins, Carl Macios, Thomas Elliott, Albert E. Bell, William Luchini, Norman Hessler and Gerald Mueller.

"We pledge a clean campaign on Whitsell's record and the issues. We encourage public participation and public debates of the opposing candidates. Whitsell will personally visit homes in his district as he has always done in the past to answer questions and hear your problems."

Kidney transplant successful; Mitchell donor returns home

Clifford Foreman of Mitchell has returned home after saving his brother's life.

He donated one of his kidneys to his brother, Floyd Foreman, at the Veterans' Administration Hospital, Gainesville, Fla., Oct. 16, and the operation was successful.

Clifford's decision to give up a kidney was the subject of a Press-Record feature article Sept. 20. Many of the family's friends contacted him after the article appeared. "A lot of our friends were praying for us and I'm sure that helped very much," Clifford said after returning home.

Describing his thoughts before the operation, Clifford said, "There are a lot of things that go through a man's mind at a time like that. A lot of questions he has to answer himself.

"One thing I kept thinking was that Floyd's body could reject the kidney and all this would have been for nothing. After I started to wake up from the operation, every time I raised up, someone would say, 'It's working,' letting me know the operation had been successful.

"They told me it was one of the most successful transplants ever done. Floyd's body showed no signs of rejection and he did not even need to go on the kidney machine once, as normally happens," Clifford recalled.

Floyd, a former Mitchell brick contractor, suffered from a hereditary kidney ailment termed polycystic kidney disease. Both kidneys had to be removed. Their father and a sister died of the disease.

Although Clifford does not have the disease, a younger brother and daughter of Floyd both do, and the saving of Floyd has given them additional hopes of successful transplants if the disease should go that far.

"I feel fine. I still have to take it easy but I do not feel any different than before," Clifford commented after his return.

"I am thankful that I had this opportunity to save my brother's life and I hope what the doctors learned will help other people," he added.

School rewiring contract let

The Venice Board of Education awarded an electrical remodeling contract to Rite Electric Co. of Granite City on a low bid of $10,543 at a special meeting of the board Monday night.

A second proposal for $11,332, submitted by R. Dren Electric Co., also was opened at the meeting.

The contract awarded the Rite Electric firm involved rewiring in receptacles at both the Venice Grade and High School buildings and rewiring and installing of a switch panel in the school gymnasium.

The work was authorized in

Board members also approved two bills from R. Dren Electric, amounting to $240 and $275, stemming from installation of a fume hood and other work in the school cafeteria. Of the amount, the sum of $300 will be reimbursed from the federal School Lunch Program funds, Pier advised. Renovation of the Venice School cafeteria, a project costing $12,702, has been completed, Pier said. The modernization program included purchase and installation of a walk-in freezer, cooling units, commercial mixer and other electrical appliances. About 70 percent of the total cost, or $7,232, is eligible for reimbursement under the School Lunch program, the administrator said. Bids currently are being sought by the Venice Board of Education from firms wishing to provide medical and life insurance for district employees.

Proposals must be submitted at the Venice School office prior to 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 12, when bids will be opened at a special board meeting, Supt. Pier said.

Also at this week's meeting, members voted to postpone the board's regular Nov. 19 session to the following night Tuesday, Nov. 20, to enable board members and district administrators to remain through Monday in Chicago at the Illinois School Boards Association convention.

Raymond Tate dies at 69

Raymond C. Tate, 69, of 1321 Madison Ave., a Quad-City resident for 21 years, was pronounced dead at home at 11:15 p.m. Monday by Edward Weber, Madison County deputy coroner.

He was found by his daughter, Mrs. Tana Andrews about 11 p.m. There will be an inquest to determine the cause of death.

A native of Walnut Ridge, Ark., Mr. Tate resided in Glen Carbon 15 years before moving to this area. He was employed 16 years as a tag machine operator at Laclede Steel Co. until 1965 when he took a disability retirement.

Mr. Tate was a member of the United Steelworkers Union.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Christine (Leach) Tate; one son, Eugene Harris of Cottage Hills, Ill.; two daughters, Mrs. Lester (Tina) Yates and Mrs. Andrews; daughter of Madison; two brothers, Alger Tate of Hoxie, Ark., and Paul Tate of Arizona; three sisters, Mrs. Naomi Cunningham of Searcy, Ark., Mrs. Horace (Opal) Miller of Orlando, Fla., and Mrs. Archie (Ramona) Carmichael of Memphis, Tenn., and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Rites held for Mrs. Womack

Funeral services were held this morning in Dover, Tenn., for Mrs. Mamie Womack, 82, of Houston, Tex., formerly of Dover and Granite City. She died Sunday afternoon in her home.

Mrs. Womack resided in this area five years prior to moving to Texas in 1963. Her husband, Harry Womack and a son Sidney R. Womack preceded her in death.

Survivors include three daughters and three sons; 14 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren; and three nieces who reside here: Mrs. Ruby Pfaff and Mrs. Myrtle McDowell, both of Granite City, and Jewel Ratliff of Madison.

80th year plans for First Savings made

Fred R. Williams was re-elected Monday night to lead First Granite City Savings during its 80th year of business. Williams again was named president of the board of directors after the shareholders retained all board members at the annual meeting. They are Williams, David G. Knollman, Lenard Fleishman, M. D. Walston, Paul Niebur, Dr. F. B. Dioneida and Hughes C. Blake. The board voted to retain all officers. Re-elected, besides Williams, were: David G. Knollman, vice-president; Carol C. Howard, secretary; and Nancy Wade, treasurer. The annual report noted that the association was the oldest financial institution in the Quad-City area. During the past fiscal year the company contracted to operate its financial records and accounting through computer electronic data processing, offering advanced service to customers. A new parking lot was opened during the year for the convenience of the association's customers, it was noted. Williams commented the outlook for the 1973-74 fiscal year, which began Oct. 1, appears bright as recent federal decisions have indicated an easing of restrictions which were initiated to fight inflation. He said in the last 30 days the interest rate to institutions borrowing federal money has dropped and should be reflected this spring by the institutions in lower lending rates. The Federal Reserve Bank and Federal Home Loan Bank are instituting new programs which will improve the field for making single family mortgage loans. Williams also indicated First Granite City Savings is exploring new government programs and is hoping to offer a wider variety of mortgage loans to the public within the year.

Public hearing on fire plugs

Nameoki Township will hold a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday in the township office, 4255 Highway 162, to determine if $10,000 of revenue sharing funds should be transferred into a special account for new fire plugs.

The township plans to allow the Long Lake Fire Protection District trustees to advertise for engineering and bids for the fire plugs and make recommendations to the township board of auditors. The auditors will have to approve the awarding of contracts and payment of bills from the account.

The proposed fire plug account budget calls for $2,000 to be spent for engineering and the remaining $8,000 to be used for the installation of fire plugs in several areas of the township.

FEROCITY OF ACTION in the GCHS South sectional soccer game won by the host team during the weekend is indicated by this view of a collision between a Jacksonville player (light shirt) and a Warrior (dark shirt). South won 1-0 and will compete in the state tourney at Normal tomorrow and Saturday. (Hank Funkhouser Photo)

South in soccer state finals starting tomorrow

It was late August 1973, area schools were preparing for a new year, and the GCHS South soccer Warriors were practicing for their season opening match with the Pioneers of Assumption (E. St. Louis). South having its new head coach, Gene Baker, at the helm.

"I'd have to be foolish not to be skeptical about leading a championship team into a new season," Baker told the Press-Record.

"These kids have a real good attitude," he remarked. "They're not pessimistic and I'm certainly not. I'm here to win," Baker warned.

The defending state champions shouled the East St. Louis team 3-0, lost their next game to New Trier-East 0-3 and have not been beaten since. Now they are enroute to the Illinois High School Association state finals at Normal, for games tomorrow and Saturday. Now posting an 18-1 record (South's one tie came on Sept. 28 with St. John (St. Louis)), the Warriors have already broken two and tied one school record and others may fall at Normal.

Don Goldschmidt and Mike Martinez are tied with 27 goals scored in one season by an individual player. The previous high was 21 set by Randy Worthen last year.

Goalie Keith Kibort has tied the 15 shutouts by a single goalkeeper in one season, which also was set last year by Tom Clark.

Going into the state semifinals tomorrow at Normal, this year's squad has scored only 88 points against opponents as compared to the record setting high of 97 by last year's champions, but the 1973 crew set a new record of having the fewest number of points scored against it. South's opponents have been successful at putting the ball into the net only seven times. The Warriors posted a 1-0 victory over GCHS North in their final regular season game, then defeated Assumption once again by 3-0 to capture the district meet Oct. 27.

Like last year, Jacksonville won its district meet to come face-to-face with South this past Saturday. Mike Martinez powered the ball into the net with five seconds left to play, giving the local team a 1-0 victory, the sectional title, and the right to advance to the state finals and defend its crown.

Unlike last year, South will meet the Wheaton Sectional winner Morton East at 7 o'clock tomorrow night in the semifinals. Round-off defeated Sem High School of the Chicago

Public School Association 4-0 in last year's first round competition to advance to the finals. Morton East, with a 14-0 record, is noted for its scoring power. "We're well-balanced and our defense sets up our offense," says Coach Klaus Kummer. East has three players who have posted more than 20 goals each, including Halfback Chris Toskovich who scored six points unassisted in the sectional game.

Public School Coach Gene Baker commented, "We might have to utilize the power sweep defense that Jacksonville used against us to plug the mid field and stop East's passing game."

"More than likely we'll shift Goldschmidt into the striker position up front with Martinez." If the defending champions get past Morton East, they will meet the winner of the duel between Lake Forest and Harrison. That semi-final match will be at 5 p.m. tomorrow, preceding the South-Morton East battle.

The semi-final round winners will be pitted at 2 p.m. Saturday to determine a 1973 state champion, only the second in the state's history.

It is by chance they should lose the first round match, the Warriors then would meet the other semi-final loser at noon Saturday to determine third place.

Baker said Keith Gehling more than likely will play the mid-field and may be joined by Dave Sheridan who has been at the sidelines most of the season with a broken foot.

"The cast is off and if the doctor gives his approval we'll have Sheridan in the game with us, which should provide us with one of the best mid-field combinations in the meet."

"It's always tough to repeat a state tournament victory," comments Baker. "You not only need a good team, you need a little luck, healthy players who don't get injured, and everything has to be just right."

For the Warriors of GCHS South, everything has been just right. Win or lose at Illinois State University's Hancock Stadium, in the hearts of area soccer fans they will still be "Number One."

A reception again will be held in the school's gymnasium between 7:30 and 8:30 Saturday night to greet the returning Warriors.

Registration underway for women's sports

The Granite City Park District has set Friday, Nov. 16, as the deadline for accepting team registration for its Women's Basketball and Volleyball programs which is scheduled to begin Monday, Nov. 26 and Wednesday, Dec. 5, respectively, at the Lincoln Place Community Center.

Each league will be limited to seven teams and will play 12 games during the season. The top four teams will participate in playoffs at the end of the season and trophies will be awarded to league and playoff winners in each activity.

A $50 per team entry fee is required for the basketball league, which will adhere strictly to men's basketball rules and will be officiated by Park District referees.

The volleyball team entry fee has been set at $30 and will be governed by the women's rules with teams officiating their own matches.

Interested persons should contact Mike Jessee at the park office at 877-3659 for additional information.

COUGAR BROADCAST
WSIE radio, on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will broadcast live the SIUE-St. Louis U soccer game at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Busch Memorial Stadium in St. Louis. The 87.7-on-the-dial PM station will begin with a pre-game show at 7:15 p.m.

Local gridders face tough weekend challenges

The 1973 varsity football season is slowly coming to an end for the three local elevens, with perhaps their toughest opponents yet to come. GCHS North, with a 4-4 record, will try for its fifth consecutive victories against the 6-2 Mattoon Green Waves tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in Mattoon. Now 3-3, GCHS South faces the tough national record holding Jays in an 8 p.m. game Friday at Jefferson City, Mo., and Madison will host the Borgia Knights of Washington, Mo., at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The North Steelers, fresh from a 17-7 upset over Collinsville, will be the first to end the season in what is being described as a "collegiate type clash" at Mattoon.

Coach Tom Wyrostek comments, "People are calling it that because we are facing a super ball club which has two running backs with almost 1,000 yards apiece in rushing. We've never played a ball club with that kind of backs."

One is Rich Moss, who needs only 50 more yards to hit the 1,000 marker. In a game two weeks ago as the Green Waves were behind 26-0 going into the final quarter, Moss carried the ball five times and scored four touchdowns to give Mattoon the win. Last week they defeated Stephen-Decatur to clinch the Big 12 Conference championship.

The Steelers, plagued with injuries most of the year, have lost 6'0"-160-pound guard Ted Kwiatkowski due to an injury received against Collinsville, but may have regained one of its key starters, Mike Doney.

Doney, injured at the beginning of the season, has been practicing this week and Wyrostek said the 170 pound halfback may see action tomorrow.

"Our defensive unit will get a good working out in this game," stated the coach. "I have faith in the boys though. They can be compared with the defensive squad of the Cleveland Browns."

Asked what he meant, Wyrostek said, "They bend, but they don't break."

The Warriors of South will travel to Jefferson City, Mo., tomorrow for an 8 p.m. clash with the Jays, the second to last game of the year for South. Last year, both schools met for the first time and played to a 6-6 tie going into the second quarter. With less than a minute left in the first half, Jerry Rathliff kicked a 27-yard field goal to defeat South 9-6.

In South's favor this year is Dale Williams, its star ball carrier. Williams sat on the sidelines during the 1972 clash with a broken leg, but is set to play tomorrow.

The Warriors also have a fine combination in Quarterback Dave Dombek and pass receiver Tom Schooley.

"The days are ranked among the best in the nation," says Coach Wayne Williams. "Our defense will have to contain their running backs if we are to win."

With Pete Atkins at the helm, the Jays have a 15-year record of 143 wins and 9 losses. They also hold a national record of 68 consecutive victories and have lost only one game this year.

South, which lost its bid for a Southwestern Conference title, will meet the Jefferson City team fresh from a 35-14 romp over Cahokia.

The Trojans of Madison High also have two games left to play, including Saturday's 2 p.m. match with Borgia at

No varsity South-North football game this fall

Granite City football fans will have to wait until next year if they want to see the North High School Steelers and the South Warriors clash, it was determined last week.

Despite a number of requests from the public that the two teams meet in a special post-season "Thanksgiving day" game, the Board of Education decided, on the recommendations of the coaches and athletic director, not to add the game.

Joseph Fedora, director of athletics, presented a statement on the issue, recommending that requests for the Nov. 22 game be denied. Board members in discussion which followed agreed not to bring the issue to a vote, thus allowing the idea to die.

Fedora's statement, which he said reflects his feelings and those of the coaches of both schools, follows:

It appears that public opinion and/or football fan reaction is beginning to mount for an inter-school football game proposal for Thanksgiving Day of this year.

In anticipation of this reaction, I have discussed the matter with the athletic personnel of both North and South high schools. We have discussed the situation from all angles of approach.

It is our collective recommendation that the football season terminate as originally planned. Our recommendation is not based on personal likes or dislikes, fears or prejudices, but on what we believe to be the best course of action for the total athletic program of North and South.

The North varsity season ends Nov. 9 and the South varsity season Nov. 16. The two schools will meet in football at the sophomore level Nov. 13 and the freshman level Nov. 15.

The football programs of either school have very little to benefit from a post-season game at this time. One school or the other would end their season with a loss (excluding the possibility of a tie game).

Both schools have had exceptional seasons when considering the "split" of schools this year. And it would be unfair to either school, after accomplishing so much, to look forward to the next season with a less-than-positive attitude that could result in a loss at the end of a season from a game not an original part of their schedules.

North would have 12 days of extended practice without a ball game to maintain game readiness. South would have five days to prepare for this game—for one school, too long a period of time, and for the other too short a period of time.

Both schools are about to embark on winter athletic programs. Key student athletes from the football programs also are to be key participants in the basketball and wrestling programs. Basketball is to open its season with two coaches. Wrestling is to open a new coach.

Madison. Madison will be seeking its first win of the season against the Knights, which last year blanked the Trojans 36-6.

Plagued with injuries and internal problems, the Trojans have lost Center Silver Franklin who suffered a rib injury in Saturday's 21-12 loss to Francis Howell. But if they continue to play 100 per cent football, as they have in their last few outings, Coach Al Vonder Haar could just see his squad pull a big victory out of the bag.

Both schools are faced with split student athlete personnel. Extending the current football season could have possible adverse reaction on the winter sport season.

It is the opinion of the athletic department that a football game on the first possible date of this year, Sept. 7, was not advisable; additional practice preparation would be more beneficial than a game due to the split in schools. This was proven to be true, and the same belief applies to the winter sport program.

The first scheduled basketball games for North and South are Nov. 30. The first scheduled wrestling meets are for North, Nov. 30, and South, Dec. 1.

Extension of the football season would leave only seven days prior to the first scheduled events. This includes weekends and does not provide time for ample preparation for football players involved in winter sports.

In concluding, a game of this type would generate much fan approval, but our fans are reasonable and certainly

Season ticket sales approved

The Granite City School Board on Tuesday approved the selling of season athletic tickets at a reduced rate for 1974 for students.

Season ticket holders will have reserved seats for basketball games, wrestling seasons tickets will not provide reserved seats.

Basketball season tickets will be $9 for North games and $10 for South games. Wrestling tickets will cost $7 at North and $8 for South.

The price for football tickets will be $5 for North and $4 for South, and a decision on whether reserved seats will be included is to be made at a future date.

The board agreed to allow GCHS South to host an Illinois High School Association Class AA regional basketball tournament March 5, 6 and 8.

SUE HARRIER MEET
All the hopes and expectations of a long cross-country season will go on the line Saturday as the SIUE harriers journey to Wheaton, Ill., for the NCAA College Division Championships. The meet which will run over the Wheaton College five-mile course, begins at 11 a.m. SIUE coach John Flanner hopes for big things from senior Gary Baxter, who can qualify for All-American honors with a good showing at Wheaton.

capable of understanding the situation when reviewing the involvement and concern of the total athletic program of North and South High Schools.

Truly, this is an exceptional year we faced with many problems, concerns and achievements.

As director of athletics, I believe a post-season football game would tend to offer more additional problems and reactionary concerns than it would provide for in the area of beneficial achievements, Fedora concluded.

Trojan cagers prepare for season opener

With the coming of winter, also comes varsity basketball and Madison High's Coach Larry Graham is taking a long, hard look at his new Trojan team, which opens its 1973-74 season at the Collinsville Tournament, Friday, Nov. 23 and Saturday, Nov. 24.

"The toughest part of our schedule is at the top of the list," notes the coach mentor who has led the Trojans the past four seasons. "We'll probably start slow and finish strong."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Page 10 Thurs., Nov. 8, 1973

especially if we have a winning record after our first eight games."

Graham said the team, which finished last year with a 14-11 record, is handicapped because three of its potential starters have been ruled ineligible to play until Jan. 11.

The three are senior forward Kevin Boyd, returning letterman Alvin Wigfall, a 6'4" 195 pound center, and 6'5" Evan Dandridge, whom the coach describes as "a potential super-player."

Wigfall lettered as a part-time starter last year and is considered by the coaching staff to be the best rebounder and strongest member of the team. The outlook, however, isn't really bad for the Trojans. Chris Stanley and Rudolph Bradley are returning at the forward spots.

The 6'11" Stanley started for Madison last season and has excellent jumping ability and quickness. Although defense has been his main effort, he has the potential to score in double figures.

Bradley, 6'11" forward guard, is felt to be an exceptional shooter and a dedicated ball player who is aggressive and plays a strong defensive game.

Key positions, center and big forward, are to be filled by Carl Campbell and Daryl Franklin. Graham said both will be competitive.

"Carl is a good jumper and equally as good in shooting at the basket," said Graham. "We expect him to have a very good year."

"Franklin, at 6'2", is very quick and has good jumping abilities. He is especially tough on the press. We're counting on him to score a lot of points for us."

He noted that Emmett Timmons probably is one of the most improved players on the squad and should start on the jayvee team and move to the varsity level as the season progresses.

One thing that worries the head coach is the possibility of injuries sidelining some of his key starters.

"All of them are on the Madison football, squad and with two games left on the schedule, we can't rule out injuries adding to our problems."

Two contenders for a starting berth with the cagers are Jon Henke and Ron Glasper, both seniors.

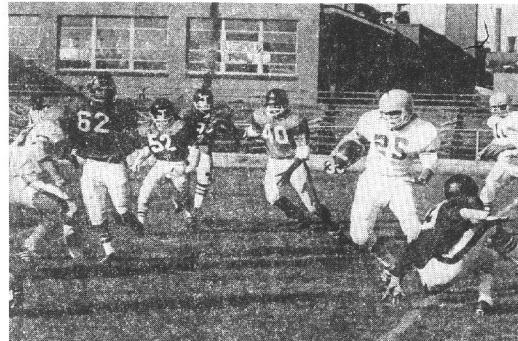

Henke, a 6'11" guard on the jayvee squad last year and an outstanding pitcher for the baseball Trojans, has excelled as a shooter and passer.

"Glasper," says Graham, "lacked three quarters of not lettering last year and will probably be our main ballhandler. He is blessed with quickness and is very agile."

Others being considered for a starting berth are 5'11" guard Willie Shearley, 6'0" guard Norman Whiteclinton, forward Mike Walker, 6'1" forward Bill Coghan and 6'2" forward Greg LEFT HALFBACK'S VIEW of Southwestern Conference football action here during the weekend between GCHS South and Cahokia. The host Warriors won 35-14, as South Halfback Walt Milton (40) carried the ball through an opening in the line created by effective blocking. No. 76 is Tackle Tim Kilian and No. 17 is Quarterback Dave Dombeck, who has just handed off to Milton.

SOLID TROJAN PERFORMANCE during the weekend kept Madison High gridders within a point of Francis Howell of Weldon Springs, Mo., until the closing minutes, when the visitors scored to wrap up a 21-12 win. Turner, a sophomore. Since Graham began as the Trojans coach in 1969 his teams have posted records of 16-11, 15-10, 8-15 and last year's 14-11.

Junior Varsity Coach Roger Drake, also in his fifth year, led his squad to a 13-5 season last year. Sophomore Coach Dave Hodges, another five year mentor, has a 9 and 4 season record in 1972.

The Collinsville Tournament pits the host team against CBC of Quincy at 6:30 p.m. the first day. Madison will clash with Thornton-North at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, the 24th. On Tuesday, Nov. 27 the Trojans will face Central at St. Louis, whom they defeated 63-55 last season and on Friday, Nov. 30 Madison will attempt to avenge last year's 63-57 loss against GCHS South. The game will be on the Trojan's court.

Netmen ranked

The MacLair Tennis Association has released its 1973 point standings for boys this week with three area youths among the top in their respective age groups.

The association, which covers Madison, St. Clair, Monroe, Washington, Bond and Clinton counties, has Bill Ruskic of 2735 Michigan Ave., ranked first in the 16-year-old age group.

Scott Perkins of O'Fallon is second. Jim Ertimoff, 2800 Michigan Ave., is listed as third in the 12-year-old standings.

Collinsville's Jay Leskers is second and Tim Willyard of Lebanon holds the first place spot.

In the 14-year-old age group, Mike Papes, 2653 Center St., is fifth and Perkins is first.

The final point standings in girls' competition will be announced at a later date.

North kickers advance in tourney

The soccer Steelers of GCHS North, having defeated Assumption (East, St. Louis) twice in regular season play, again defeated the Steelers 1-0 last night on an unassisted goal by Bill Schlatter in the third round of the St. Louis Metropolitan Soccer League Tournament at O'Fallon, Mo., which began on Monday.

The Steelers defeated DeSales (St. Louis) in the first game Monday 2-0 on goals by Schlatter and Dave Wolf.

Assumption scored a 2-1 victory over St. Dominic the same day to advance in the tournament against North.

The next day, with the Steelers idle, Gibault-Waterloo downed the Whitefield (Mo.) team and Assumption defeated DeSales in the losers round.

The Steelers-Pioneer game last night was followed by St. John (St. Louis) defeating Waterloo and earning the right to advance against North at 7 p.m. tomorrow night in the semi-finals. Both teams are undefeated in the tournament.

North's outside left, Kevin Gavlick, has been lost for the remainder of the competition due to a severely bruised shin bone received in last night's game. Gavlick was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital upon the team's return to Granite City.

He was released after x-rays were taken.

DeSales and St. Dominic are pitted and Orchard Farm and Whitefield clash tonight with North again being idle. The winners of tonight's competition will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow and Assumption and Gibault will clash at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

The winners of the 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. games tonight will play each other Saturday.

The tournament will end Monday with the championship to be decided in a 7:30 p.m. match.

Diane Turner marries William Eugene Smart

Central Christian Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Diane Jean Turner, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Turner, 306 Wilson Park Lane, and William Eugene Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smart Sr., 173 Big Four Place, on Oct. 20.

Dr. L. Jim Anthis pastor, performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 in the evening. Nuptial selections, including "Somewhere My Love," "More," "Sunrise, Sunset," "With These Hands," "Theme from Love Story," "Oh Perfect Love," and "The Wedding March," were played by Mrs. Judy Owens at the organ.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin enhanced at the neckline and sleeves with delicate ivory lace. The slightly gathered skirt swept into a chapel length train.

She wore a mantilla veil edged in matching lace and held a teardrop bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Glendora Adams, matron of honor, chose a long pink dress made with sheer sleeves. She carried an arrangement of roses and carnations.

Cliff Adams served as best man. John Douglas Turner Jr. and Gene Smart Jr. were ushers.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony. The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Ravanello's Restaurant.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Granite City High School, is employed at McDonald's Restaurant. Her husband works at the Moto Gas Station in Collinsville.

Colp-Kenley nuptials at Calvary Baptist

Miss Pamela Kay Kenley, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kenley, 4200 Bruene Ave., and Howard Keith Colp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Colp, 4724 Vincent Ave., were united in marriage Nov. 3 at 6 o'clock at Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Alfred Slayter officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with arrangements of white gladioli, blue pom poms and greenery. White satin bows barked the family pews.

Miss Brenda Bivens, organist, played "Sunrise, Sunset," "We're Only Just Begun" and "For All We Know."

Mr. Kenley escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of organza over satin with a lace panel and clusters of sequins accenting the bodice and extending down the skirt.

Matching jeweled lace trim defined the neckline and the cuffs of the long full sleeves. The chapel length train was secured at the waist with a side bow.

A camelot lace hat secured her veil of bridal illusion and she held a cascade of red Sweetheart roses, white carnations, baby breath and blue star flowers, centered with a red rose corsage.

Maid of honor Miss Nancy Hamilos and bridesmaids, Misses Paula Squires, Diane Schneider and Sheila Richardson, a cousin of the bride, wore identical gowns of powder blue tulle.

Their dresses were fashioned with high collars, bishop sleeves and natural fitted waistlines. The slightly gathered skirts, made in an apron effect, were outlined with a narrow ruffle and encircled at the waist with a royal blue velvet ribbon, ending in a small bow.

On their hair they wore matching velvet bow headpieces and each attendant held a Colonial bouquet of White carnations, red roses, blue starflowers and baby breath.

Keith Skipper attended the groom as best man. Randy Werner, John Durbin and George Bell were groomsmen.

Madison city officials upset burglars' getaway

Three men were charged with theft at 9:35 p.m. Tuesday due to the alertness of Madison Mayor Mike Sanyk and Superintendent of Streets Elmer Smith.

The two city officials were eastbound on 13th street and had passed Duffin Brothers Lumber Co., 1300 Madison Ave., in the mayor's car when they heard the Madison police dispatcher notify a patrol car of a burglary in progress at the lumber yard.

Mayor Sanyk drove back to the lumber yard where he and Smith saw three men drive away and turn right onto Madison Avenue.

The mayor and Smith got a description of the car and license number, radioed the information to police along with the direction of travel. The mayor then followed the suspects.

The trio was stopped by Granite City police at 20th Street and Grand Avenue where

City settles pay issue

Payment of $1,298 to Richard Bell, a former Granite City police officer now on disability because of an on-duty injury, was authorized by the Granite City Council Monday night to satisfy a contempt of court citation against the city in circuit court at Edwardsville.

The citation was issued a week ago for non-payment by the city of 50 per cent of the former officer's base pay for the months of August, September and October. The payment approved Monday night covers the three-month period.

Bell, who was injured in 1970 and went on disability at half of his base pay, later won a court order instructing the city to pay the other half of Bell's full salary. As a result of lengthy court proceedings, the amount grew to $11,200, an amount that was settled by a garnishment proceeding three weeks ago.

City Council members have instructed City Attorney George

Filcoff to take court action to eliminate city payment of the second half of Bell's salary.

The council Monday night also held up payment for the second time of a $1,600 claim filed by Kieberger Associates, Inc., (formerly Research & Design Associates) of St. Louis for engineering work on street improvements prior to Jan. 1 this year.

The firm formerly served as the city's motor fuel tax consulting engineers and prepared plans for all motor fuel tax improvement projects. The council decided to make no further payments to the Kieberger firm until all plans prepared by the firm are turned over to the city.

An ordinance establishing a traffic stop on Grand Avenue at 26th Street was approved, as was another ordinance that prohibits parking on the east side of Walnut St. from Niedringhaus Avenue north to the point five feet north of the centerline of the manhole on Walnut.

Another ordinance fixing a five-ton load limit on trucks or other vehicles on Edison Avenue from 18th Street to 20th Street also was enacted.

The council accepted a low bid by the Wheeler Equipment Co. of St. Louis to furnish the street department two chipper units, with an $1,100 trade-in for one old unit. The equipment will be purchased out of revenue sharing funds.

Council members also called for strict enforcement of an ordinance which prohibits the burning of leaves and brush on sidewalks or on paved streets or curbs.

Several aldermen said they had received complaints about the apparent burning of trash and paper along with leaves. The state has lifted the ban against burning leaves and brush except where such action is controlled by city ordinances.

Granite City has an ordinance that permits burning of leaves, but prohibits such burning where it may harm streets, curbs or sidewalks.

Two bids on furnishing a six-cylinder truck for the Humane Department were referred to the Sanitation Committee headed by Alderman William Dallas.

Industrial employees, companies showing their good citizenship this fall by substantially upgrading their financial pledges to local United Way

Regardless of the outcome of the current Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign, the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corporation has shown itself to be a "solid citizen" by its decision to provide 50 cents for each non-industrial dollar contributed to the drive during the first two weeks of November.

The offer was made even though the division already had reported employee and corporate giving at record levels.

A massive direct-solicitation effort has been carried out at Granite City Steel and at a number of other manufacturing facilities in the Quad-Cities and environs.

The net result has been a significant upgrading of financial backing by thousands of local workers and residents to help provide the operating funds necessary for 1974 services by the 18 member United agencies.

While there are "no strings attached" to such wholehearted devotion to this community and its future, it is vital that the United Way giving reflect a true cross-section. In other words, strong support by plant workers and firms can only be one aspect; in the long run, their active role would be jeopardized unless professional, commercial, construction and residential contributors also participated vigorously and generously.

Especially now that United Way dollars will be doing the work of $1.50, individuals, groups and firms not yet on the United Way honor roll may wish to make doubly certain that their pledges reach the office at 2021 Edison Ave. (telephone 877-6780) this week or early next week. The 50 per cent matching is to take place at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 14.

Constructive human services provided in region by 'helping' professions

As illustrated by the photographs below, Quad-Cityans and others enrolled in the SIUE human services program are receiving practical opportunities to be trained as specialists in "helping" professions.

These professions are defined as the services and programs offered in the interrelated areas of crime, delinquency, corrections, law enforcement, employment, health and welfare.

In the final year of their training, students fill responsible positions in service and corrections work. The goal of both classroom and field experiences is to acquaint them with the scope, diversity and needs of people and agencies—the overall social, political and economic aspects of human problems and solutions.

There have been 12 graduates of the program, now in its fourth year; 155 are enrolled, and more than 200 students are expected by the end of this academic year.

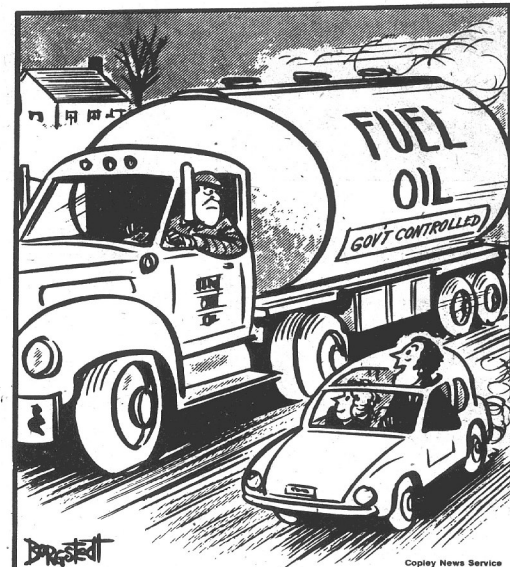

Despite the tendency of some people to minimize the need for a broad spectrum of social services, such programs play a big role in this fast-paced era of changing values. And, as indicated by today's accompanying report on the crime control challenge in Madison County, some new dimension of "people helping people" may prove not only useful but essential.

Circuit Judge John Gitchoff explains a procedure in law research to April Triska of Belleville, who is fulfilling the practicum requirements toward a human services degree at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville by working for the criminal court of Madison County. Miss Triska, who is interested in the juvenile justice system, also has worked at the St. Clair County Halfway House and Pere Marquette State Boys Camp.

Darrel Smith (right) of Granite City, a senior in the human services program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, is the program's first recipient of an internship provided by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. He is working as a juvenile probation officer for the Probation and Court Services Dept. of the Third Judicial Circuit of Illinois. Arnold Droge (left) is director of the department. Smith is a veteran of over 22 years in the U.S. Navy.

Tougher state control of most coal increases need for natural gas, fuel oil

Springfield Scene

The Illinois House of Representatives defeated Rep. Richard Hart's (Benton Democrat) proposal to override Gov. Dan Walker's veto of H. 763 last week.

Hart then refused to accept a motion to sustain the governor's veto and the controversial bill died.

The attempt to override the veto failed by a vote of 56-79. The bill was thought to have had more support.

There was speculation that a hotly-contested bill concerning highways, voted on just prior to the coal bill, cost the coal proposal several needed votes.

Hart's bill proposed a ban on enforcement of Rule 204 of the Environmental Protection Act. Rule 204 requirements include these:

1. New electric power plants must be designed to use only coal with a 0.7 sulfur content.
2. New industrial plants' emissions will be limited to a sulfur content of 1 per cent.
3. Existing power plants in Chicago, East St. Louis and Peoria will be limited to use of 1 per cent sulfur coal after May 30, 1975.
4. Hart's bill proposed that the 1975 deadlines be lifted until the Pollution Control Board could adequately demonstrate that a sulfur removal device meeting EPA requirements was commercially available.
5. He included in H. 763 the requirements which must be met to prove the equipment available.
6. Utility representatives testified that the only reasonable alternative seemed to be to find another fuel source.
7. They warned at the hearings that an energy crisis was inevitable and they were unsure if supplies of natural gas or fuel oils would be available to them in sufficient quantities.
8. Since then, Arab decisions to cut back on the amount of oil exported to the U.S. have made the petroleum availability prospects even darker.
9. Gov. Dan Walker used his amendatory veto powers on H. 763 to change it.
10. His changes essentially gave the Pollution Control Board the power to say, or not to say, when the necessary sulfur dioxide removal equipment was available.

'Teamwork can control crime'

Summary of remarks by Circuit Judge Harold R. Clark at a monthly meeting of the Crime Prevention and Control Committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, chaired by Warren Decatur.

1. Where are we now in our civilization process? Everybody is criticizing, angry and pointing their finger—and very few are trying to solve the problem.
2. Problems in Europe, the Middle-East and Far East affect us because it is now a small world. Instead of Moses coming off the mountain with the Ten Commandments and two tablets, would he now come down with two aspirins?
3. In 5,000 years of recorded history, we have made more progress within the span of human memory than all the rest combined. Jet flight, electronics, immediate communications, movies, TV, telephone and the atomic bomb all combine to make an exciting age, but a complicated one.
4. Obviously, we have changed the world, but have we changed ourselves to live in it?
5. In my early life as a judge, abortion was a felony; now it is legal. No one really knows what pornography is. TV violence is having a terrible effect on our youth. By the time a student is 18 years of age, he has seen 18,000 people killed on the TV screen. Are many actual crimes committed because of the violence they saw on TV?
6. New laws in effect this year are laws to improve society—such as a halfway house of correction. Higher courts and parole boards can now reduce a circuit judge's sentence. Negotiated plea and white collar crimes are on the increase. Nineteen policemen have been convicted in Chicago.

7. Fortunately, only five per cent of the people violate the law. At least 90 per cent never get into any trouble.
8. There is not enough communication from police chiefs to judges. We need better team effort. Judges don't have complete control. We must work together. We still have a great system of law and order, but we must make it work and we must solve our problems.
9. We need more prosecutors. The prosecutor schedules cases. Too many are part-time, and we need more full-time prosecutors even though the number has been doubled in the last four years. We need more policemen—and we are short on police in many communities.
10. On crime prevention—we need it in the home, school and church. This is where prevention should start.
11. We need to learn more about our own jobs. We need seminars between policemen, lawyers, judges, etc. We need to hold meetings with judges on scheduling, and we need greater cooperation of the public to save young people before they go wrong.
12. Seventy-five per cent of people arrested are one-time offenders and only 25 per cent are repeaters. Ten days in jail on the first offense could change a young person's mind about continuing law violations.
13. We need to pick up potential offenders in school before they get into trouble. We need new court facilities. We now have 14 judges and not enough courtrooms so that they can perform their work.
14. There are solutions. I urge everyone to take a more active part in community activities and decisions.

U.S. self-sufficiency in meeting its energy requirements is urged

By ROBERT C. B. MORTON
U.S. Secretary of the Interior

Even with a cease-fire in the Middle East some Arab oil—which accounts for almost 12 per cent of the total U.S. consumption—will be embargoed from the U.S. market.

Regrettably, the statistics are even more forbidding at a second look: Nearly half of the heating oil supplies on the East Coast are produced from Arab sources.

The American energy crisis, unlike most national issues, is not transitory. It is not going to be limited to "this winter" or "this year" or even "this Administration."

Instead, it clearly is the greatest issue facing the American people during the next decade.

And because Americans use more energy than most nations of the world, the energy crisis may have a deep cutting effect on our national life.

During the next seven days, for example, the average American will use as much energy as half the world's population will consume on the per capita basis in the next year.

And over three quarters of that energy will come from petroleum and natural gas, while less than one quarter will originate from other sources such as nuclear, hydroelectric, geothermal or coal.

Nuclear energy is making about the same contribution to our energy base as firewood.

For a variety of technological, economic and environmental factors, throughout the balance of this century we will depend heavily upon fossil fuels. And a dependence on fossil fuels means a dependence on pipeline systems.

The American consumer is going to have to realize that America has no choice but to regain energy self-sufficiency.

We are going to have to accelerate our efforts to bring additional fossil fuels to the market place—and do it now!

And we are going to have to be prepared to make hard decisions on the economic and environmental trade-offs in developing conventional and second-generation energy sources.

Regrettably, too many of our people fail to recognize the dimensions of the energy crisis. They say: Give me energy, but don't run power transmission lines, or gas lines across my lands.

They say: Give me secure domestic supplies of gas and oil, but don't provide equitable economic incentives for exploration, development and production.

How much longer, for example, will we allow our natural-gas reserves to decline, while interstate natural-gas prices are held at artificially low levels that discourage exploration and production?

They say: Give me an energy policy that leads to secure energy supplies, but don't ask me to pay a fair price for it.

They say: Give me a workable energy policy, but don't dam, dig, mine, or drill in my state.

They say: Give me an energy policy that maximizes national security, but don't infringe on our trade and defense relationships within the world community.

Too many Americans are still unaware of the consequences of the facts and the growing threat of a dependence on unstable, expensive and interruptible energy sources holds for our future.

The time has come when everyone—government, industry and the consumer—must realize that our energy resources and energy needs are truly "national" and not limited to a single state or region.

MANY WAYS TEENS CAN KEEP BUSY, HAVE FUN
To the Editor:

In reply to the teenager whose letter appeared Nov. 1:

So, the older generation doesn't understand you. I think I do and I speak for myself as one of the older ones.

You sound as though you think the world owes you a living—maybe so, but try and collect.

Do you think teenagers are peaches and cream 10 or 20 years ago? Well, my sons were growing up then. They worked after school and on Saturdays and Sundays.

When they weren't working for local merchants, they were busy mowing yards to get extra money for gas for their jalopy.

In addition to that, they had to keep their room in order, mow the lawn and clean the family car. They played ball with their friends in our yard, were active in the Scouts and think back to those times as the "good old days."

When was the last time you baked a cake, cleaned the car, washed windows or helped your mom fix dinner? What have you done for your young people's group at church? Have you thought of being a Candy Stripper?

You say you were prodded into cleaning your mess in the parking lot. My congratulations to the people who thought of it.

My parents, both in their 70's, water the trees in that same parkway, and every day, rain or shine, my 70-year-old mother picks up the trash, broken glass, cans and bottles so that the kids playing there won't get hurt.

They also pay taxes of $1,200 per year for the privilege of living in a nice neighborhood. They do enjoy looking at a clean parkway, you know.

Do you have money for cigarettes. Don't you have bus fare to the skating rink? It is only a quarter. Surely in this day of inflation, physical fitness you aren'taverse to walking.

You say, "What's the difference between an adult and teenager smoking?" For one thing, the adult has probably earned his cigarette money.

And since the younger generation is repeatedly being warned about the evils of smoking, why do it? And why pollute the atmosphere?

As far as the hair bit is concerned, you kids always bring it up for some unknown reason. One of my sons has short hair and is clean-shaven. The other has long (not girlishly long) hair and a mustache.

They are both fine young men, and they are clean. It only takes a bar of soap and some water. Since you say you have nothing to do, keeping clean should be no problem.

I think the biggest objection anyone has to long hair is when it looks unkempt and unclear.

In all fairness, I must say, your letter has some merit. Do your parents encourage you to bring friends home? Some parents don't.

Surely with your pep and energy you could clean up your basements and have gatherings there. Can't you sit on your porch and your lawn and entertain your friends.

Years ago, mom and pop took the kids to the foreign dance, to weddings and to visit. Now most wedding invitations exclude children. How the kids are supposed to learn manners and get along with older people, I don't know.

As far as Granite City being a boring town, this summer my son flew to New York. He enjoyed it thoroughly, since he was telling a native-born New Yorker how much he enjoyed it, she said New York is strictly "Dullsville, U.S.A."

So you see, the grass always seems greener on the other side. Incidentally, it costs kids about $30 per year to join the "Y"—swimming and recreation facilities and good clean fun, all for about $2.50 per month.

Save your cigarette money and join. Or go to the library; the books are just great and it's free. These same books will be here long after the R movies are gone and forgotten.

My congratulations to you for a few years between the teens and adulthood, why not get busy and prepare yourself for the time when you can be a useful citizen, wife and mother?

Remember, your life is your own. From God, what you do with it is your gift to God.

State plan to save fuel calls for local action

Gov. Dan Walker today outlined a comprehensive industry-citizen effort to "keep Illinois running" through an austerity program of fuel conservation.

In announcing the program, Gov. Walker outlined a series of steps the state will take to provide leadership for action by local governmental units.

He also outlined steps consumers can take to conserve fuel—such as increased reliance on heavy clothing, blankets and building insulation for warmth, lowering of thermostats in homes, businesses and public places and slower speeds on highways.

Gov. Walker said his office is working with power companies and fuel companies to draft comprehensive lists of ways consumers can save energy.

He said state buildings and vehicles will be operated under a strict fuel conservation program endorsed by Gov. Walker and Sec. of State Michael J. Hovatt.

The program is highlighted by a 55-miles-per-hour speed limit for state vehicles, lowering of thermostats and purchase of four-cylinder cars to replace larger models.

Gov. Walker said he is writing county board presidents, mayors, school superintendents and other local government executives to inform them what the state is doing to conserve fuel, encourage them to take similar steps, and invite their ideas on further conservation measures.

To insure that hardship needs for heating oil and diesel fuel are met during shortages, Gov. Walker established an inter-agency state task force.

The task force will be coordinated by a state allocation director whom Gov. Walker will name.

The director will have the duty of recommending exceptions to the rationed limits on heating oil, jet fuel and diesel fuel under federal mandatory allocation.

The new federal allocation regulations permit states to recommend setting aside up to 10 percent of future monthly allocations for distribution to consumers with "exceptional hardships."

Agencies which will provide representatives on the task force are the Departments of Agriculture, Business and Economic Development, Local Government Affairs, General Services and Transportation, the Illinois Commerce Commission, Bureau of the Budget, Civil Defense Agency, Capital Development Board and the Environmental Protection Agency.

In addition, the Illinois House of Representatives Energy Crisis Commission and the superintendent of public instruction will delegate representatives to the task force.

Gov. Walker said the Illinois Commerce Commission headed by Chairman Marvin Lieberman will act as an appeals board on objections to the state allocation director's proposed recommendations to the federal government.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Consumers with immediate fuel needs can continue to use the emergency fuel service provided by the Illinois Fuel Hotline (217-522-2444) which has been operated by the Illinois Department of Agriculture and Illinois Commerce Commission since last January.

In addition to the 55 speed limit on state vehicles (except police and emergency vehicles), other points in the Walker-Hovatt program to conserve fuel in state operations are:

—Lower thermostats in state buildings to 60 degrees at night, on weekends and during other periods of low occupancy.

—Lower thermostats in state buildings to no higher than 66 degrees during working hours.

—Close to a minimum level outside air dampers in state buildings so that no more outside air enters than is absolutely necessary.

—Direct occupants of all state buildings to keep closed at all times all functioning windows and doors leading from work areas into corridors, lobbies and other public areas.

—Turn off lights in state buildings to no higher than 66 degrees during working day, except for lights necessary for security, fire exit, and maintenance purposes—and except where more energy would be consumed by switching the lights off and back on than by leaving them on.

—Reduce to a minimum the number of lights kept on in state buildings during leaving hours, for example by leaving corridors unlit during the day, where there is enough natural light for safety.

—Require that state-owned vehicles carry two or more persons including the driver, except in emergencies or when the requirement would lead to loss of man-hours.

—Prohibit the use of automobile air-conditioners (except when absolutely necessary) in state-owned vehicles.

Gov. Walker said the Department of General Services has written specifications for fleet car purchases which include, for the first time, sub-compact automobiles to save on the chase price and on fuel consumption.

As state cars are traded in, full size cars will be replaced with intermediate cars and intermediates with compact cars.

State agencies and the state motor pool will be purchasing sub-compacts for use around metropolitan areas, at institutions and on short trips where the normal occupancy is two passengers.

They will order intermediate size cars where the normal use is long trips with three or more passengers.

substantially and additional support facilities will be constructed, Col. Elmore said.

He avoided speculation on reports that the Aviation Systems Command may be moved from St. Louis to Granite City or to a base in Georgia.

But it was indicated that such a decision would not materially affect the present ten-year construction and employment plan.

To emphasize the permanence of the local base, he noted that it has 300,000 tons of copper, 100,000 tons of bauxite and 800,000 tons of zinc. Unless 15 or 20 years taken to phase out such stockpiles, moving them could cost $50 million, it has been estimated.

SMOKE AT NURSING HOME

Smoke in the Colonial Haven Nursing Home on Stearns Avenue at 10 a.m. Monday caused officials to move all residents to lobby and doors and prepare to evacuate them. Firemen found that oil used in treating ducts at the new facility had heated and was smoking but there was no fire. Plans to evacuate the building were cancelled.

SIUE Dental Students Help Teach Children

PERSONAL
She's tired of dumb excuses

By PAT and MARILYN DAVIS

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I am tired of Darrell's dumb excuses and phony illness. Every time we have a big date all set, he has a headache, backache, stomach ache, or dizziness, and consequently can't go. Or he may call at the last minute and say his car won't start, a tire is flat, or his mother borrowed the car and hasn't returned.

Darrell is 28, lives with his mother, and she caters to him like you wouldn't believe. What should I say to him the next time he calls up ill?

Sick of Excuses

Dear Sick: The next time Darrell calls and says he is ill, tell him to take something for it and hang up the telephone. When he asks for another date, suggest that you will not be well enough to see him for at least six months. If you're lucky, that will be the end of Darrell.

Dear Pat and Marilyn: My parents feel I'm their permanent babysitter. I don't mind taking care of my little sister on occasion but feel my social engagements should be considered.

Last Wednesday I had a date which I had made a week ago, and my parents knew of my plans. On Tuesday, Mother told me I had to babysit because she and Dad were going bowling. I told her I would not break my date as it would inconvenience another couple. To make this brief, there was a real blowup because I refused to cancel my plans and finally told my parents to hire a sitter or stay home. Needless to say, they've been burning ever since.

I am 18 and feel it is time I am treated with courtesy. Am I all that wrong?

Kathleen

Dear Kathleen: Before this problem gets any bigger at home and have a talk with your parents. They are unfair to expect you to cancel plans which were made a week in advance.

However, stress that you are happy to babysit without pay but want the same consideration they would give someone they hired to do the job.

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I am 17 and have always believed in the live-and-let-live attitude. But all of a sudden I'm beginning to wonder if I am a little too liberal.

I've been going around with a group of guys (some of them a couple of years older) and they have begun to use pot. So far, I've stayed clear of marijuana but my friends seem to be getting in deeper and deeper. Last week someone brought pills to use while smoking. He said the combination was really great.

My problem is that I want to be included in with this group — yet, I am afraid of the drug scene.

Dear Sid: Better drop this group or you'll be included in alright — in jail! Granted, pot is everywhere but it is illegal. These friends are not worth the worry and potential trouble.

A good babysitter needs a lot more than a way with kids

Of course a babysitter should like children. And like taking care of them. But the job also involves some pretty big responsibilities.

Caring for little ones means being able to handle just about any emergency. Because emergencies often require the use of the telephone, a handy list of important numbers can do wonders for your sitter's confidence.

So write down the phone numbers for fire, police, medical assistance and the places you'll be while out. Keep the list right next to the phone, and remember to call home if your plans change.

Interested in getting more for your telephone dollar? We'll send you 20 tips to help you save time and money. No charge. We'll also include an Emergency Numbers List.

Doerr sees progress on sanitary sewers

The office of Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab, consulting engineers, has now completed final planning of sanitary sewers and interceptors to serve developed areas in Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice Townships, Albert E. Doerr, District 16 member of the Madison County Board, said in a statement this week.

"This four-township district has the approval of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission and the City of Granite City," Doerr noted.

"Applications have been filed with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for a federal grant in the amount of 55 per cent and state of Illinois grants of 25 per cent of costs of interceptors sewers and pumping stations.

"Applications have been filed with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for 50 per cent of cost of collection sewers. However, the President has frozen these funds.

"The consulting engineers have measured door-to-door hookups and have done surveying to determine the location, with proposed completion any day.

Senior citizens to hear Hartigan

Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan will appear in Edwardsville to speak to senior citizens from all of Madison County Monday.

He will speak at the Eden United Church of Christ, 903 Second Street, Edwardsville, at 6:30 p.m. Arrangements for the meeting have been made by the lieutenant-governor's office, Sen. Sam Vadala and Hays Mallory, supervisor of Edwardsville Township.

Anyone wishing transportation to the meeting may contact the Madison County Office of Economic Development, Edwardsville, by calling 656-8240.

The lieutenant-governor will discuss his views on specific issues and problems facing senior citizens as well as legislation that will affect them. There will be a question and answer period so that the people may express their views to Hartigan.

The lieutenant-governor was appointed by Governor Dan Walker to study the issues and problems of senior citizens and created Hartigan's Commission on Aging and a study entitled "A Matter of Dignity" was prepared.

Following this study a proposal for an independent sewage treatment works of Granite City."

Doerr continued, "a system of sanitary collectors sewers is to serve the State Park Place area and developed area east of Route 40 with outlets into the village of Fairmont sewerage system.

"Canteen Township, located adjacent to State Park Place, has received a 90 per cent poverty grant to sewer through the village of Fairmont, which is a very good indication that we will receive a like amount for State Park. The Canteen project is a step forward in this program.

"As soon as completion of the most economical construction is projected by our engineers, and the federal and state grants are established, we will be in a position to quote cost figures per unit to the general public.

"We County Board members have been working very hard to secure the sewer project for our areas — Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice townships.

"We feel very confident and safe to say that, possibly in the first quarter of 1974, construction hopefully will begin on sewerage the developed areas of Chouteau and Nameoki Townships.

"We also know there is considerable work ahead for all of us to insure the lowest possible cost to the residents through state and federal Grants. Furthermore, I feel that a system of our magnitude has generated much interest and will be one of the first to be considered."

Kiwanians hear of fuel cuts

A real cold winter will increase the fuel oil shortage that already is upon us" Marvin Barnes, local Shell Oil Co. distributor, told the evening Kiwanis Club at its 6:30 p.m. Monday meeting in Charlie's Restaurant.

Barnes told the Kiwanians he already had had a 10 per cent cut from the fuel oil he bought last year, and he expects another similar cut.

He urged the Kiwanians to turn down their thermostats a few degrees during the day and set them even lower at night.

When people go out of town, the thermostat should be set down to around 60 degrees, according to Barnes.

Alvin Gross, club secretary, suggested that the group hold an entire meeting reviewing the Kiwanis by-laws as he felt there were some suggestions the club should consider.

President Howard Etherton reminded the club that it has wheel chairs available to loan to people on a temporary basis, and anyone needing a wheel chair may contact Roy H. Feder at 452-7147.

Hunters warned

Anyone who is found hunting in the Horseshoe Lake area without permission of the landowner, if on private ground, is subject to arrest on a charge of hunting without permission, Don Hastings, Madison County inspector of the Illinois Department of Conservation, warned today.

Hastings said a number of arrests were made in the weeks on complaint of landowners. Hunting is not permitted on state-owned land under any circumstances, the agent said. He said the lake area, which is scheduled to become a state park is being patrolled.

Vehicles looted at shop centers

Four vehicles, parked in the adjoining Nameoki Village and American Village shopping center parking lots, were looted within one hour early this week.

Jim Coleman, Pocahontas, said his car was parked by George Lindsey's Steak House when a $159 citizens' band radio and a box of gun shells were taken. Yason Scheack, 2133 Johnson Road, said a $300 citizens' band radio was taken from his truck about the same time in the American Village lot.

A similar report came from Richard Wade, 2006 Yale Ave., who said his car's spare tire was taken near the Kroger store, and the fourth report came from Bill Vandavey, 828 Alton Road, Madison, who said a radio, an amplifier, a utility tray and almost $4 in change were taken from his vehicle after a wire was used to bypass the window and open the door.

GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

On Nov. 19, 1963, President Abraham Lincoln delivered an address dedicating the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa.

Dr. Layloff Scout speaker

Dr. Thomas P. Layloff, Jr., of Granite City, professor of chemistry at St. Louis University and chairman of the St. Louis section, American Chemical Society, will be the speaker today at the Uniwah (Quad-City) district Boy Scout dinner beginning at 6:30 p.m. in Tempel's Smorgasbord.

Dr. Layloff was born and reared in Madison where as a youth he was a member of Cub Scout Pack 21, Boy Scout Troop 21 and Explorer Post 21, sponsored at the time by the First Presbyterian Church, Madison.

Dr. Layloff is a Brotherhood member of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow. He has served the past two years as council activities chairman for the Cahokia Mound Council.

Dr. Layloff serves as chairman of the St. Louis University executive committee and vice-chairman of the University Council.

He is science advisor of the federal Food and Drug Administration's National Center for Drug Analysis in St. Louis.

In his senior year at Madison High School, Dr. Layloff dropped varsity football and attended Washington University in the evening. He earned a bachelor's degree in both psychology and chemistry at Washington University where he also earned a master's degree in organic chemistry.

He received his doctorate in analytical chemistry in 1964, and then joined the St. Louis University faculty.

The speaker will be introduced by W. F. "Mick" Strange of Madison.

Dave Wilson council Explorer program chairman will act as master-of-ceremonies. Dave Brooks is general chairman of the dinner, with Mark Yehling the staff coordinator.

Tickets are available at the door at $3.50 each and the Boy Scout dinner is open to the public.

The election of district officers and presentation of the District Award of merit will be among the highlights of the meeting.

Scout council places second in camping

The official tabulation of Scout camping released Friday at the North Central Region Boy Scouts of America, meeting in Kansas City, Mo., places the local Cahokia Mound Council second among 17 councils in Area Three.

The local Scout council had 59.5 per cent of registered Boy Scout membership attend a week's camp during the 1973 season. This was two-tenths of one per cent behind the first place Pony Express Council of St. Joseph, Mo., which rated 59.6 per cent.

Other councils of interest to local scouts finished as follows: St. Louis Area, fourth place, 52.5 per cent; Plaza Bird (Alton), 14th, 36.2 per cent; Egyptian (Herrin) 15th, 28.3 per cent; and Okaw Valley (Belleville-East St. Louis), 16th with 31 per cent.

Ask the Governor

Q. My husband is a 100 per cent disabled veteran of World War II with a service-connected disability. We are not allowed the $15,000 exemption on real estate taxes that some 100 per cent disabled veterans receive. Why does our state look at disabled veterans in different classes? —Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Lingner, New Douglas.

A. Real property up to the assessed value of $15,000 is exempt if a disabled veteran (or his dependents) has acquired a home in connection with his disability. This means the federal government will pay for construction of the home, if it is built to specifications.

As your husband did not receive this federal grant, I'm afraid you do not qualify for this exemption. The state does not have power to override this action.

But new laws may benefit you and I hope a bill which is currently in the Illinois House of Representatives—if passed—may help relieve you from the burden of real estate taxes. House Bill 297 exempts property owned and occupied as the sole residence of a person who is totally or permanently disabled.

I have requested that Wayne Hildeford, the Veterans Commission southern district supervisor, contact you to answer further questions.

Meanwhile, I might also suggest that you inquire into qualifications for disability benefits under Social Security.

Q. Every day we hear on television or radio announcements on bringing Illinois children back from Texas. I have also heard that it cost over $300 per month for each child to be kept in Texas. Is this true? If so, why aren't our foster homes in Illinois paid this amount for each child? —D. J. Luy, Savanna.

A. When I became Governor, I was shocked to learn that nearly 800 dependent Illinois children were in out-of-state institutions. Most were in Texas. The State of Illinois was paying as high as $700 a month per child. About $8 million was paid by Illinois to profit-making Texas institutions in the past decade.

We halted out-of-state placements last spring. We ordered return of most children to Illinois. And Jerome G. Miller, my appointee as director of the Department of Children and Family Services, commissioned an outside investigation of all dealings the state had with Texas facilities. It disclosed that some children had been mistreated in these institutions. Many received little or no education.

Already, about half the children have been returned to Illinois. Some are back with their families. Some are in Illinois institutions. Others are being cared for in foster homes. We hope that some of the dollars we save by eliminating out-of-state placements can be used to increase fees to foster parents who are doing remarkable work caring for Illinois children in Illinois.

I especially urge families who believe they can provide foster care for teenage boys and girls to contact the nearest district office of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. It is my strong belief that there is no substitute for home.

Emphasize student training in safety

"Never swim alone." child memorizes safety rules like these.

Yet last year in the United States, 7,000 children died in motor vehicle accidents and 2,400 drowned.

In addition, 300 died from poisoning, 1,200 from choking, 500 from falls and 450 from firearm accidents.

The Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction Office is tackling the problem of effective safety education with a detailed curriculum guide to be launched in selected school districts around the state this year.

"Safety Education Units for Illinois Schools," to be used in kindergarten through grade three, have been printed. Units for the remaining grades are being developed.

"Although everyone knows children must be taught safety, and although the School Code requires Illinois schools to teach safety, not much help has been available to teachers in this area," State Supt. Michael J. Bakalis said Friday.

"Little material has been developed offering a continuing program for kindergarten through grade 12. This curriculum is the first of its kind, outlining a complete, detailed program a teacher can follow even if he or she has no background in safety education."

The curriculum has been designed to be used in team teaching, individualized instruction, or in a traditional classroom. It is interdisciplinary, incorporating language arts, mathematics, art and music skills. Safety can be part of lessons in any of these areas.

"This curriculum, like the bicycle and pedestrian safety curriculum launched last year by the OSPI, emphasizes the learning of basic safety concepts and attitudes as opposed to the memorizing of lists of safety rules," according to Bakalis.

"We cannot assume that, because a child has memorized a list of rules, he will practice them. We must make the idea of safety meaningful."

The safety curriculum, which is not mandatory, will be started this year in a limited number of school districts. It is hoped it will be available to every district in the state by 1975. Personnel from the Safety Education Section of the OSPI will visit each district to aid in implementing the curriculum.

"Safety Education Units" was written and field-tested by teachers in Harlem School District 122, Rockford, and was based on student needs.

The guide includes units on recreation, school, home, traffic, hazardous weather and work safety, all treated at each grade level.

For example, to learn boat safety, kindergartners would build a rowboat from cardboard and use it to demonstrate safety rules. A jolly song concludes the lesson.

First graders studying the same subject would discuss safety rules, and then make drawings or posters showing water accidents.

Worksheets on proper and improper boating practices are recommended to reinforce the same lesson in the second grade.

Third graders would go on to learn what to do in case of a water accident through watching films, acting out emergencies and filling out worksheets.

Songs, films, games and pictures to color figure prominently in the lessons. "This program supplements the OSPI's bicycle and pedestrian safety curriculum, which has received national attention and overwhelmingly favorable reaction. I am confident the new curriculum will be as well received," Bakalis advised the Press-Record.

Scott lists contributors

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott, in a plea for meaningful campaign disclosure laws, voluntarily listed the names Tuesday of 2,300 people who contributed to his re-election campaign in 1972.

He also called for legislation to require candidates to disclose how contributions are spent, and for laws that place a limit on campaign spending and contributions.

Scott said he is supporting all effective ethics legislation and campaign disclosure bills now before the General Assembly, including legislation being introduced this week by Senate Republicans.

Scott said the bulk of his 1972 campaign funding came from two dinners.
A Chicago dinner raised $23,058, less $40,127 for food and other costs, leaving a net of $202,931.
In Springfield, a $50-a-plate dinner raised $59,440 minus costs of $10,440, leaving a net of $49,000.
Contributions from other fund-raising activities in 1972 amounted to $75,338, Scott said.

School milk price cut

The price of a half-pint carton of milk in the Granite City public schools will be reduced Monday from the present 9 cents to 5 cents. Other Quad-City schools are expected to follow suit.

The price cut is the result of a new Department of Agriculture bill passed by the U.S. Congress Oct. 24 and signed into law by President Nixon the next day. The bill provides a 4-cent-per-carton reimbursement from the federal government. The reimbursement takes effect the day the cost to each child is reduced.

The proposed reduction was approved by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night.

In other business the board voted to reopen the acceptance of custodial applications from residents of the school district. With about 255 applications on hand, the board voted more than a year ago to declare a moratorium on new applications.

Applications are to be accepted between Monday, Nov. 12, and Wednesday, Nov. 21. Applicants will be tested in the GCHS-South old cafeteria at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 27. Those taking the test must apply with the school district before the Nov. 21 date.

The board approved a contract with Union Electric Co. to provide new lines and a new transformer for electric service to the GCHS-North athletic field. The approval was subject to a study of the cost of a larger transformer which would be capable of carrying power for field lighting if a decision to light the field should be made in the future.

The cost with the smaller transformer would be $3,670, to be paid on the district's electric bill over the next 36 months.

The board voted to continue the Alternate Education Class, also called the Co-Ordinated Youth School Drop-Out Program, because of its success last year and the renewal by the state of reimbursement qualifications for the program. The program will be funded by the $7,483 reimbursement from last year and no additional cost is expected. Madison and Venice also participated in the program.

The board rejected a Right to Read program proposal for the district. Board members were told that the program is not significantly funded, is undeveloped and is unnecessary as the subject is covered in the present district reading instruction program.

The board voted to change the Memorial Day holiday date for students from Monday, May 27, 1974, to Thursday, May 30, 1974.

The change was suggested by Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, superintendent of the educational service region. The Chamber of Commerce was granted use of the North gymnasium Nov. 27, the tentative date for Gov. Walker to hold an accountability session here.

Also granted was a request by the Madison County Deputy Sheriff's Association to hold a basketball game with Playboy bunnies Dec. 16 from 6 to 11 p.m. at South with proceeds being used for charities.

Use of South's gymnasium also was granted to the Granite City Steel Credit Union for its annual meeting Jan. 27, 1974, and the Maryville School Parent-Teacher Association was allowed use of the school for the annual Black Cat Barbecue tomorrow.

The Nestle Co. request to use a room at Emerson School Saturday for company testing also was approved.

The board accepted a gift of a used electric range for special education at Wilson School from Fred Stille, a teacher there, and permission was granted to Girl Scout Troop 388 to plant two maple trees on the grounds of Johnson School.

Bubblemasters to honor divers at dinner-dance

The Bubblemasters Scuba Diving Club of Granite City will hold its annual awards banquet and election meeting Saturday evening at the Red Carpet Inn in St. Louis County. More than 100 divers and guests are expected to attend.

Primary purpose of the diving season's gala finale is to honor divers who completed outstanding records during 1973 competitive events and those who assisted in club administrative tasks and related activities. Jack Richardson, president, explained.

Dinner will be served from 7 to 8 p.m. Saturday, followed by the presentation of awards and balloting for president, treasurer and recording secretary. Members of the Bubblemasters governing board are elected each June, Richardson said.

Dancing will follow from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., the club officer noted.

Among the key award winners to be announced Saturday evening is "Diver of the Year," Richardson said. The award is presented annually to an individual whose efforts on the club's behalf are judged most exceptional, he added.

In the competitive ranks, a "Champion Spearman of the Year" trophy will be presented to Edward Duffin, who accumulated the highest number of total points at diving events during 1973. Duffin also will receive a "Competitive Spearman of the Month" trophy for June.

"Spearman of the Month" awards for May and August will be received by Phil Lamm. Barry Maycock will be presented the same award for July and William Brannan was named the winner of the September spearman's trophy, Richardson advised.

Serving on the entertainment and decorating committee are Mrs. Barbara Duffin, Mrs. Mary Adams, Mrs. Sharon Ernie and Mrs. Mary Brannan.

Four held in Venice murder

Less than 12 hours after finding the body of Jerome Tyus, 18, of 1202 Market St., Venice, shot fatally Monday, Venice police charged four persons with murder.

Charged were Rozelle Williams, 21, of 36 Carasche Homes, Madison; Carl Darnell Nelson, 20, of 55 Lee Wright Homes, Venice; Quinten Dale Porter, 22, of 1088 Douglas Ave., Venice; and Roosevelt Nelson, 21, of 405 Mercedia Ave., Venice.

The four were arranged Tuesday afternoon. No bond was set and they were ordered by the court to be transferred from the city jail in Madison to the Madison County jail at Edwardsville.

Tyus' body was discovered by Madison Police Lt. Richard Krieshok at 6:05 a.m. Monday. Tyus was pronounced dead at the scene at 6:20 a.m. by Deputy Coroner Thomas Scaturro, who said death was caused by two or more gun shot wounds.

Venice police said they recovered the weapon believed used in the killing.

"The whole thing apparently started with a sidewalk argument between the victim and four men," Chief of Police Ralph D. Bravley said.

"I am not sure how the argument started or why it got so heated that it resulted in a shooting," he added.

Tyus is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Tyus Jr. of Madison; his grandfathers, Willie Wade of Memphis, Tenn.; two grandmothers, Mrs. Birdie Mae Williams of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Mrs. Emma Tyus of Chicago, Ill.

State opposes automatic electric rate increases

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency will oppose a petition by several utilities to allow automatic rate increases for the major electric utilities whenever costs of pollution control change, the Press-Record was told yesterday.

The Illinois Commerce Commission is holding public hearings on a petition that would allow the electric utilities to increase rates paid by their customers without individual public hearings.

"The current proposal neglects the needs of the people of Illinois who will be forced to pay higher electric rates and serves only the interests of the utilities," Jack Marco, acting director of the Illinois EPA, contended.

"The EPA on Tuesday asked the ICC for permission to intervene in hearings currently being held on the proposed automatic rate increase."

"If the ICC allows us to testify, we will show that the proposed automatic rate adjustment could create an incentive for utilities to blindly install pollution control equipment before evaluating other, possibly less expensive and more efficient, alternatives for pollution control."

"The proposed automatic rate increase also seems to me to be an incentive to electric utilities to ignore Illinois coal and to buy low-sulfur coal from out of state," Marco added. "Equipment is available to control air pollution caused by burning Illinois coal. And the cost of installing such equipment is about the same over the long-term as the cost of transporting low-sulfur coal from out of state."

"We agree that utilities Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Friendship Baptist Church, 301 Mercedia Ave., Venice. Burial will be at Sunset Garden of Memories, Stookey Township.

should be compensated in some way for any extra costs of pollution control," Marco said, "and we realize that the utilities must show a profitable return on their investment, but at the same time we must try to provide the best service possible to the citizens."

He stressed his belief that utilities should be able to modify rates if pollution control costs increase, but that he is concerned that the proposal being considered by the ICC lacks a requirement for full disclosure of future utility claims of increased costs.

Illinois electric utilities that have requested the automatic increase include Central Illinois Light Co., Central Illinois Public Service Co., Commonwealth Edison Co., Illinois Power Co. and Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Co.

High School South
During the fall semester, high schools receive a great deal of information concerning the college-bound student. In the spring, there is greater emphasis given to information for the student who plans to go to work.

A. J. Woods, dean of student services at Belleville Area College, has announced a change in dates for the English Placement Test required of all incoming freshmen in the full-time day program. The test will be given on Nov. 15 and 29, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on the Main Campus, Room A106.

Students planning to take the test should call the college and reserve space for one of the tests.

Washington University, St. Louis, will be one of the test centers for the National Engineering Aptitude Search Test to be given on Saturday, Feb. 9, 1974.

Applications may be submitted up to Dec. 1. The test is of special value to students in the 9th and 10th grades, for it can help recognize engineering aptitude early enough for high school students to take the right courses for entrance into engineering schools.

Mr. H. Boulter Kelsey Jr., Director, Engineering Student Services, Washington University, Box 1164, St. Louis, St. Louis 63130.

The Jewish Hospital School of Nursing has announced that the National League for Nursing Pre-Entrance Exams will be

Washington University has announced two fellowship competitions for high school students who may enter the university in the fall of 1974. The Langsdorf Fellowship is being offered for the ninth year, and the Compton Fellowship for the first year. Four fellowships will be given in each competition.

Students may apply for either, but not for both. Neither competition is based on financial need. Fellows are selected solely for scholastic aptitude, achievement and potential for success in their chosen fields of science or engineering.

Students must meet at least one of the following criteria: 1. Be certified by a science or mathematics teacher as a student having outstanding potential for engineering or science. 2. Rank in the upper 10 per cent of his or her senior class. 3. Have SAT or ACT scores in the upper ranges.

Interested students should write for application forms for either competition no later than Jan. 1, 1974. Write: Fellowship Competitions, Box 1163, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

Finalists are invited to the campus in March for personal interviews. Each fellow chosen will receive an award of full tuition and a $500 stipend for the 1974-75 school year, renewable for the three remaining years of the baccalaureate program in the College of Arts and Sciences or the School of Engineering and Architecture.

For information or to arrange for audition, write: Department of Music, Elmhurst, Ill. 60120, indicating whether audition is to be in voice, keyboard or a particular instrument. Other audition dates may be arranged at the college.

Iowa Wesleyan College at Mt. Pleasant, Ia., is offering music scholarships ranging from $200 to $1,000 for the 1974 school year.

All awards are on the basis of music performance skill and are renewable if above-average academic standing is maintained. Write: Mr. Burton Mahle, Music Department, Iowa Wesleyan College, Mt. Pleasant, Ia. 52641.

Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., has announced the annual Scholarships for Illinois Residents. This program supports over 30 Illinois students at Trinity with $100,000 in scholarships.

Applicants should rank in the top fifth of their class, show evidence of intellectual commitment, creative energy, a sense of responsibility and personal integrity.

The results of either the SAT with English Composition Achievement Test or the ACT are required. The Parents' Confidential Statement is also required.

Deadline is Jan. 1, 1974. Write: Director of Admissions, Trinity College, Hartford, Connecticut 06106.

The Illinois and the National Amvets organizations are offering a number of scholarships.

Deadline for application is March 1; all require the ACT test. The following Illinois Amvets Scholarships are offered:

The Auxiliary World War Scholarship for the son or daughter of a deceased veteran, either father or mother, who served in World War II, Korea or Vietnam. The death need not have been in action or the result of a service-connected disability. Scholarship value: $500.

The Paul Powell Memorial Amvets Scholarship Award is based on completion of application and secondary school record. Competition is open only to unmarried high school seniors. Value is $500.

The Illinois Amvets Service Foundation Scholarship is offered to the child of a veteran who must be an Amvet, qualified to be in the service, have been an Amvet serving during the period from September 16, 1940, to the date of cessation of hostilities as determined by the U. S. government.

Applicant must be a senior and must have taken the ACT with scores reported to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission. Value of the scholarship is $500.

National Amvets Scholarships are for high school seniors whose mother or father is deceased and who was a veteran of the conflicts covered by Amvet membership.

The scholarships are also offered to students whose parent is totally disabled as the result of military or naval service during the above conflicts. Scholarships range in value from $500 to $2,000 for four years of study at any accredited college or university.

The National Amvets Scholarship for Handicapped are awarded annually to one young lady and one young man who are handicapped. All nominations are to be made through the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

Through the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, National Foundation for Educational Purposes, $65,000 will be awarded at the state and national levels. First prizes are $2,000 educational certificates for a boy and a girl. The contest is based on student leadership, citizen appreciation, perseverance, resourcefulness and sense of honor.

Student officers who have shown initiative, organizational ability and influence on others—students who have shown interest and concern about the privileges of citizenship and have participated in community and Americanization programs—and students whose record in school, church or community have shown them overcoming difficulties are types of young people who could meet the judging standards.

This is not a scholarship contest. Applications are available from counselors; the deadline is Nov. 15.

Tim Buckley's aims and talent unlimited

The name of Tim Buckley may not be a household word for most people, but if you're looking for a power-house talent in lyrics and music, you should get to know this fellow.

It seems that labels have a way of converging when discussions of Tim's music arise, for he is an artist in the purest sense. He is an innovator, a musician who seeks change, growth and personal development. Tim also does not believe in limitations and his new Discreet album "Sehronia" testifies to this fact.

Eager to experiment, Tim has often found himself at odds with current trends, or facing expectations that relate to the past. Jazz, for example, helped shape much of his progress.

"Jazz was always around me," he said, "always in my life. But there is no jazz today. There's more of an opportunity for a singer, at least, to experiment so that's the road most have taken."

Tim is also a singer, as well as a poet and an arranger. He started off singing in country bands when he was in his early teens, moved to folk and jazz and rock 'n' roll. His "Sehronia" LP is a blending, reflecting a softer approach, in part, from his previous efforts.

fort, "Greetings From LA." The title song is taken from a slave name which goes back to Greek mythology. Tim communicates an underlying fullness in male and female relationships, poetically exposing what he feels to be a universal application.

Buckley is at his very best when faced with a live audience and his experiences span almost a decade of performances across the nation.

"I feel like I've played every club in the country," he says, "and there aren't any more left to play."

He finds the concert atmosphere more receptive, and thus will tour with four musicians on his next road trip, playing college campuses whenever possible, for it was this medium that was responsible for the folk boom in which Tim made his initial presence felt.

"I don't think they'll ever happen again," he recalled. "The difference is that the comradeship is just not there anymore, and it affects the music. Everything affects the music."

"I spent a lot of time in New York, because that's where the work was. You only come to L.A. to record. Mayonnaise in the early years when the Troubadour had just opened there was a music scene there. That was back in '63 and '64 at the Monday night blues when the Byrds, Odetta, and Fred Neil would show up. But there was never the sense of community that there was in New York, although things do change."

Having been born and raised in Washington, D.C. and New York City, Tim's artistic roots are deep within what he calls "the Greenwich Village idea," and an overlapping of challenges.

Tim has also broadened his background by doing some acting in a couple of low-budget films.

"They'll never get released though," he said, "because they were lousy films, but I learned a lot about the industry. When I wasn't on camera, I'd always be poking around, asking questions."

He also has a film script titled "Fully Air-conditioned Inside," which he is turning into a book, "because nobody wanted to pay a million dollars for a comedy." And he is adapting Joseph Conrad's novel "Outcast of the Islands" into a concept album with Larry Beckett.

Even with all these projects in the works, it is easy to see that Tim has channeled most of his energy into his current album and along with his classic tenor and vivid material the LP should reinforce his devoted following.

Buckley does not compromise his subtle lyrics and sophisticated music, but offers instead a well-paced insight to a devoted craftsman.

Ceremony for SIUE housing

Ground was officially broken during the weekend at SIUE for construction of the Tower Lake II complex, which will provide housing for 1,000 additional single students.

In a ceremony at the site north of the existing Tower Lake Apartments on the campus, SIUE President John S. Rendleman said, "This project represents not just additional housing facilities for this university, but it represents the growth of this particular institution."

"It's more than just a physical facility," Rendleman continued. "It is the spirit of this university... it is the people who have worked together... it is the members of the student body... it is the members of the Tower Lake Housing Council... it is those groups that often are thought of as being disparate—the student body and the administration, that brought this to reality."

The president also expressed appreciation to the SIUE Board of Trustees and to the SIUE Foundation for its assistance with the project.

Again giving special tribute to the student body, Dr. Rendleman said, "If this university didn't have the greatest student body of any university I've ever been associated with, this project wouldn't have happened."

The new housing will consist of 31 two-story buildings containing 224 two-bedroom units and 24 three-bedroom units. A commons building will provide space for administrative offices, meeting rooms, lounge areas and a snack bar.

Actual construction started two weeks ago after the SIUE Board announced that $5.9 million in revenue bonds had been sold.

Representatives of the university, trustees, student body, legislature, contractor, architect, the Southern Illinois Building and Construction Trades and the Southern Illinois Builders Association took turns using chrome-plated shovels on dirt at the symbolic site while several hundred spectators applauded.

Bill Hall, director of university housing for SIUE, was master of ceremonies. He described the new housing and indicated the cooperation received in developing the project.

Others, on the speakers' platform in addition to Dr. Rendleman and Hall included Harold R. Fischer, Granite City, vice-chairman of the SIUE Board of Trustees; Sam M. Vadalabene, state senator, 56th District; Clyde L. Hartung, mayor of Edwardsville; Dr. Andrew J. Kochman, vice

GC schools urging physical examinations

Officials of the Granite City public schools are urging all parents of students who have not had required physical and examinations to complete them as soon as possible.

School nurses have reported that many children, particularly ninth graders, were admitted to school this year with the understanding they would complete the necessary examinations but a number have not done so.

A district spokesman reminded all parents, "The State School Code, Section 27-8, and House Bill 1410 require periodic physical and dental examinations and certain immunizations for students entering kindergarten or first grade, fifth and ninth grades. We urge all parents to bring their children in compliance with the law as soon as possible."

The required immunizations are: measles (Rubeola), three-day measles (Rubella), diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio.

The purpose of these laws is an attempt to provide the best health for each child, to see that each is free of remedial defects, and to provide protection for each communicable disease.

Children immunized against three-day measles, for example, will not expose a pregnant woman to this seemingly mild disease that can cause serious birth defects to an unborn baby.

Parents are strongly urged to call their family doctor and make appointments for their children who are in the grades mentioned. For those who do not have a family doctor, there are two clinics in the Tri-City area that offer the following services:

The Tri-City Medical Society Immunization Clinic is held at the Tri-Cor Medical Building on the first Saturday of each month from 8 a.m. until 10 a.m. All necessary immunizations are available there. The school nurse at the building a child attends may be contacted for a referral form. The Neighborhood Service Center, EOC, at Second Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, gives physical examinations and immunizations by appointment only every Monday from 4:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. and every Saturday morning from 9 until noon. Parents may phone 451-7624 for appointments.

Parents of high school students were reminded that having a ninth-grade examination is a requirement for graduation.

Plan for no tuition cites cost squeeze on students

As might be expected, such a controversial proposal for free tuition in Illinois state universities has drawn opposition. Officials of some private colleges said this week that competition with free tuition would be devastating to the private schools' ability to attract students.

The proposal was submitted Monday to an Illinois Board of Higher Education committee by a committee from the Southern Illinois University board.

The latter group's report contends that free tuition would make higher education available to more citizens, serving all on an equal basis and living up to the concept that "higher education is a right and not a privilege."

The report says, "It is inconsistent that any society should take contradictory viewpoints on who should pay for education so long as that society believes that all education is a right and not a privilege."

"The state of Illinois now operates as if attendance at elementary and secondary schools and some lower-level colleges (community colleges which are tuition free) is a right — but that all other higher education is a privilege."

"The SIU committee recommends that the Illinois State Scholarship Commission not make larger grants to students who are attending private universities than they do to students attending public universities."

The SIU committee called for examination of "the subsidy of private higher education" in order to determine whether the original reasons for subsidy still exist.

Subsidies to private higher education were established when it was felt that it would be more economical to subsidize private universities than to continue to expand state universities, it is asserted. At that time, the state universities were overcrowded and could not handle the demands placed on them.

The SIU board committee says the overcrowded situation has changed drastically since 1970 and that state universities are not now operating at full capacity.

The committee report states that "if the goal of Illinois is to spend its dollars to provide higher education for all of the people in the most efficient manner, those dollars ought to be spent first in the state universities, so long as the state universities offer both the quality and quantity of higher education required by the people of the state."

The recommendation also proposes reciprocal tuition agreements between the states of Illinois and Missouri so that students in the St. Louis metropolitan area can attend a state university in either state without penalty.

Finally, the committee recommends that the IBHE committee "explore a step by step transition which would achieve the result of providing higher education in Illinois on a tuition-free basis."

"The first step in that transition should involve the reduction and ultimate termination of state support to the private sector of higher education."

"Then, beginning in the fall of 1974, tuition in all state universities should be reduced to at least the 1970 tuition level. 'Continual reductions should be made in an orderly manner to permit the state to review its investment position and to explore alternative sources of income in order to support state universities on a tuition free basis.'"

Other members of the SIU committee include Mrs. Margaret Blackmore, Madison, a member of the SIU Board of Trustees; Dr. James Brown, SIU chief of board staff, and SIU Presidents Dr. David R. Derge of SIUC and Dr. John S. Rendleman of SIUE.

The recommendations being made to the John S. Rendleman committee represent only the opinion of the SIU board committee. However, Allen said he had checked the recommendations with as many of his SIU board colleagues as he could reach and had their individual assurances that they could support the committee position.

All said he would present the recommendations to the SIU board which meets in Carbondale today, and has every assurance that the full board will ratify the committee position.

"The committee recommendation proposes a radical departure from the increasing tuition road which Illinois has been traveling for many years," Allen said.

"However, it is time that the state of Illinois quit double-talking about higher education being a right, put its money where its mouth is, and provide higher education opportunities to all its citizens."

Legal problems surrounding the eligibility of Illinois residents to receive help from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission indicate that the fine work of that commission cannot be successful much longer in attempting to provide educational opportunity for all those who can demonstrate need."

Allen added that the present policies of the state have "made higher education a right of the poor, a privilege of the rich, and a serious problem for large numbers of students from middle class families who cannot qualify for state scholarships but who do not have the kind of money it takes to pay for a college education."

William W. Allen is chairman. The recommendations being made to the John S. Rendleman committee represent only the opinion of the SIU board committee. However, Allen said he had checked the recommendations with as many of his SIU board colleagues as he could reach and had their individual assurances that they

Close scrutiny of state election board nominees

By RAY SERATI
Copley News Service

Springfield—One thing is certain when Gov. Daniel Walker receives the nominations by legislative leaders for the new State Board of Elections. Backgrounds of all will be closely checked.

It is expected that the background checks will be as extensive as when the governor appoints someone to his Cabinet. The state's law enforcement agencies may be used in making the checks, and this could even include the Illinois Bureau of Investigation.

Some checks not only deal with a person's background but also have gone into tax records and financial dealings.

The General Assembly has approved a bill creating the State Board of Elections despite Gov. Walker's objections. He wanted the power to appoint the members rather than receiving list of potential members from the legislative leaders. Now he has agreed to select the board from the list submitted to him.

The four legislative leaders will nominate two persons from each post and Walker will select one name from the two persons.

The nominations will be by House Speaker Rep. W. Robert Blair, R-Park Forest; House Minority Leader Rep. Clyde Lee Choate, D-Annapolis; Senate President Sen. William C. Harris, R-Pontiac and Senate Minority Leader Sen. Cecil A. Partee, D-Chicago.

The list of nominees will be sent to Walker's office by mid-month or late November. Just how soon Walker acts after receiving the names is not quite determined.

There is also another matter pending regarding the legislation. Indications are there might be a suit filed to contest the law which the General Assembly approved, overriding Walker's objections.

If a suit is filed, it will be to determine the appointment procedures and also the formation of the board.

Legislative aides report that several persons have indicated interest in being considered for the board.

Formation of the board is called for in the 1970 Illinois Constitution. Since the adoption of the new charter, the General Assembly has been wrestling with the problem; the lawmakers are hopeful that the new legislation will break the stalemate.

Illinois vineyards, gardens, museums, potteries beckon

Nothing to do on those long, bleak winter days? Curl up and read a book... clean up those chores long neglected last summer... catch a special on television... or just do a lot of nothing? Boreday.

There's lots to do in Illinois during the cold weather, provided, old man Winter doesn't dump inches of ice and snow on the thoroughfares. And most of it is free—the activities as well as the ice and snow.

For instance, take a trip northward and westward and watch baking and winemaking at the Nauvoo Milling Company and Nauvoo Winery.

Open weekdays, the Winery affords an opportunity to see vineyards and fruit processing while the Mill, open everyday except Sunday, features tours of the wheat and stone ground flour mill and bake shop.

Travel 17 miles south of Nauvoo and stop over at Warsaw to see the workings of the Warsaw Milling Company. Conducted tours are held, Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

If everyone in your party is over 21 years of age, Hiram Walker & Sons, Inc., of Peoria distillery is open for visitors' enjoyment. With tours scheduled at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., daily, reservations are not necessary unless the group numbers over 10.

If you'd like to see the country—includes a garden walk and mini-lecture on the 900-year-old art of Bonsai growing.

Tours for adult and student groups are held Monday through Friday, with admittance to the public seven days per week. The pottery company is open weekdays, with reservations required for groups. A tour includes a visit to the ceramic museum.

Taste a little of the Amish culture with a tour through the Arbuckle area of east central Illinois. Blacksmith, harness and buggy shops dot the rural farmland which the Amish call home.

A cannery sorghum mill and cider mill are located near Arthurville while the Thomas Monahan Company, largest broom corn processing plant in the world, is open for tourists Monday through Friday in Arcola.

The tiny southern Village of Joppa is home for the Trunkline Gas Co., which offers a tour of the pumping station Monday to Friday.

Another southern city, Cobden, houses the Museum of Indian Artifacts and Pioneer Tools, open daily except Sunday morning.

If you're a history buff, Charleston is a place to go. The Courthouse Museum, Moore House, Shiloh Cemetery (resting place of Lincoln's parents) and site of the fourth Lincoln debate are located there.

In addition, see the world's largest statue of the "Great Emancipator" and Lincoln Log Cabin State Park.

Northward, Amling's Flowerland of Melrose Park contains the largest greenhouse, flower shop and garden center in Illinois. It is open daily for tourists, and groups must make reservations.

There are only a few of the tours included in the "Calendar of Events" October 13-March 74" which is distributed by the Division of Tourism, Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development.

Also contained in the brochure are special events and festivals, hunting and trapping and racing dates and locations of covered bridges.

Pollution bond ruling widened

A new source of funds for control of industrial pollution has been opened via an official opinion from Attorney General William J. Scott.

Scott's opinion during the weekend said that municipalities can legally use funds from the sale of industrial project revenue bonds issued under the Industrial Project Revenue Bond Act for installation of pollution control equipment into new industrial projects as well as already-existing industrial projects.

Anderson-Stevenson pairing more likely

For Rumsfeld to abandon this important post to return to Illinois politics might not only irritate Europeans further, as will as the President himself, but could make him vulnerable to criticism by Stevenson in the subsequent campaign.

What about Anderson's House seniority? Although he now holds the important post of chairman of the Republican House Conference, it looks like Anderson may have advanced as far up the leadership ladder as he is likely to for some years to come.

The decisive factor that may tip him into the Senate race is age. At 51, Anderson will have to make a move now or probably have to wait six years for another shot. He could well figure that it's now or never.

Now there are again second thoughts.

Anderson in the past week or so has been dropping hints that he might like to run after all. The fallout of Watergate is believed to be one reason.

Anderson's critical comments on President Nixon's handling of the matter, while alienating some Republicans, has nevertheless served a purpose of disassociating him with the administration and perhaps may have some effect in limiting Watergate as a 1974 issue in Illinois.

Stevenson is saying publicly that he won't make Watergate an issue in next year's campaign.

Although some say he is sure to exploit Watergate as best he can indirectly, his public comments may indicate that he—like others—detects a public wariness with the issue. Anderson boosters were aroused by a second Stevenson comment that he would like a full public debate of current issues with his Republican opponent, whom he might be.

Republican strategists have contended all along that if Anderson were to have a chance against Stevenson, he would have to maneuver him into face-to-face debate, a field in which the congressman is felt to excel. Meanwhile, events abroad appear to be pushing the other major GOP senatorial possibility, Donald Rumsfeld, U.S. ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, further out of the 1974 picture. This country's almost sole support of Israel in the Middle East War has suddenly pushed it to the brink of isolation as far as close military and diplomatic cooperation with Western European allies is concerned. A big effort to shore up the NATO alliance is underway and this alone is likely to keep Rumsfeld busy for months to come.

Howlett picks GOP woman

Mrs. Audrey Peak of Winchester, former national Republican committeewoman from Illinois, has been hired by Secretary of State Michael Howlett as a $10,044-a-month methods and procedure adviser in the auto dealer contact section.

It is a newly created position for the division, which was formed last spring by Howlett because of complaints he heard from auto dealers during the campaign.

Her appointment may raise the ire of some Democrats who have complained that Howlett has not been hiring Democrats fast enough since his election last year. Some see the appointment as a slap at the Democratic women across the state who worked hard in Howlett's campaign.

Mrs. Peak, though, is not an ordinary Republican. After stepping down as the number one Illinois Republican woman in 1968, she endorsed Sam Shapiro, a Democrat, for governor.

"I never voted for a Democrat in my life," she said at the time, "but I'm voting for Mr. Shapiro."

She supported John Henry Altorfer against Richard Ogilvie in the 1968 GOP primary, and criticized Ogilvie after his nomination and election. She would have supported Paul Simon in 1972, had he been nominated by the Democrats.

She publicly endorsed Howlett for secretary of state when he ran against Edmund Kocharski, Ogilvie's choice for the position.

For festive Yule—create decorations, toys, favors

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Madison County Home Economics Adviser Old-fashioned toys, favors and window decorations around your home can make this Christmas a brighter, more festive season.

And you can recycle your old newspapers to make these items with paper mache, says Anthony Monaco, University of Illinois Extension interior design specialist.

The three basic methods of paper mache construction are the paper-pulp method, the paper-strip method and the draped-paper method.

The paper-pulp method uses pieces of shredded newspapers about the size of confetti. For a smooth pulp, use paper issues or paper napkins. Colored papers or colored tissues can also be used effectively, adds Monaco.

1. Stir the water and paper to make sure the paper is thoroughly soaked. Add a tablespoon of salt per quart of the mixture to prevent mildewing and allow this mixture to soak overnight.

2. Grind the mixture into a pulp by working it with your fingers, rubbing it against the wire mesh of a strainer, mashing it with a wooden spoon, or putting the mixture into a covered jar and shaking vigorously.

3. Drain off excess water until a soft pulp is left. Do not squeeze the pulp, as this will pack it too hard.

4. Keep the soft pulp in a covered jar for later use. It may be kept for months provided you don't mix wall-paper paste with pulp until ready to use, to avoid spoilage.

5. When you are ready to use this paper mache, mix wallpaper paste with the pulp. Use just enough paste to make it sticky.

6. Work paper mache as a modeling medium in relief, such as for a wall decoration, or in the round, such as a tree ornament.

7. Allow to dry thoroughly until hard.

8. After pulp is thoroughly dried, it may be saved or drilled.

The paper-strip method can be used for hollow forms such as masks, Monaco explains.

Select one of the following foundations, depending on the ultimate use:

a. Clay form (only clay or plaster)

b. Crockery, glass or enamel bowls

c. Head for face masks

1. Apply a coating of linseed oil, vaseline, or cold cream, to the foundation.

2. Lay cheesecloth or gauze over the greased form, cut slits when necessary to make adjustments to fit the form.

3. Tear newspaper or other paper into strips about 1" to 2" wide and soak in a liquid mixture of wallpaper and water until soft and pliable.

4. Apply paper strips over the cloth overlap and criss-cross the strips to cover the entire form with one layer.

5. Allow this layer to dry slightly and remove from foundation form.

6. Rub a thin coating of colored chalk dust over the first layer to distinguish it the next layer of strips.

7. Repeat process form step No. 4 to No. 6 until the hull is about 1/4-inch thick.

8. Allow to dry thoroughly.

The draped-paper method uses any medium-weight paper—preferably with an absorbent texture, Monaco recommends.

1. Soak the entire sheet of paper in liquid wallpaper paste. Square or rectangular baking dishes make excellent containers for papers up to 12" to 18". The paper can be folded several times, but should be moved about while soaking.

2. Soak until the paper is limp and pliable (avoid making it wet enough to tear apart). The exact amount of time depends on the weight and texture of the paper.

3. Drape and manipulate the paper into folds, twists, etc. Heavier papers will remain rigid; mix wall-paper paste with supporting. If additional support is needed, rolls of dried newspapers or other materials such as screen-wire mesh can be used.

Monaco recommends three finishing methods for any of the above methods of paper mache construction:

1. Leave the piece rough-textured with the surface as part of the decoration.

2. Sandpaper the piece for a smooth surface.

3. Color it with any dry or liquid medium, depending on the ultimate use. Use any mediums with restraint to avoid concealing the paper mache as a material.

Women to confer on traffic safety

Mrs. Gladys Hine, Alton,
president, Region II, Illinois
Conference of Women Leaders for Traffic Safety, has announced that a regional conference will be held at the
Sunset Hill Holiday Inn
Saturday, Nov. 17. Registration is at 9:30 a.m. and the call to order will be at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Walker McElmore,
Chicago, the state president,
will report on the Alton Traffic Safety Seminar, whose purpose was to project a comprehensive highway safety plan for Illinois.

A. Edward Johnson, state director of safety education, will speak on bicycle and motorcycle safety.

The governor's representative to the National Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders, Mrs. Mark
Braun, Springfield, will discuss her attendance at the National Highway Safety Conference.

Crash scene photos which deal with accident severity will be discussed by William W.
Reid, Wood River.

Anthony P. Marquez, Granite
City, regional emergency medical services trauma coordinator, Illinois Department of Public Health, also will be on the morning agenda. The Illinois Trauma Program will be the subject of his presentation.

A luncheon at 12:15 p.m. will cost $5.25, which includes registration. Reservations may be made by contacting the Region II secretary, Mrs. Earl Myers, Rural Route, Tescio, phone 618-775-4543.

Capt. Daniel L. O'Brien, director, Information and Education Section, Illinois State
Police, will lead off the afternoon session with a report on
"Driving While Intoxicated —
Apprehension and Court Procedure."

Because court action plays a key role in traffic safety, it is to be the subject of a film, "Ladies and Gentlemen of the Jury."

Mrs. Hine will be joined by San Fazio, court coordinator for Madison County, in reporting on a recently-initiated group, Madison County People in Traffic Safety. The committee was formed to deal with traffic safety improvement.

While the conference membership represents all of the major women's service organizations in the state, all interested citizens are invited to participate.

Madison High classes confer with hospital

John Holt, St. Elizabeth Hospital assistant personnel director, has hosted a meeting for two groups of students from Madison High School.

Students from a special education class and from a government-sponsored Work Experience and Career Exploration Program were addressed by Holt, who informed them of prerequisites for obtaining a job.

Each of the two groups for Madison High depend on job experience to assist the students in their study program.

Counselors for the students, Lily Valley and Ron Davis, expressed the frustration felt when they are unable to provide enough jobs for able students eager to work.

Holt noted that "lack of jobs for these programs is unnecessary since many employers are supplemented by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation."

"Our community has a responsibility to the future of our foundation to the future citizens and St. Elizabeth Hospital is proud to provide job assistance to aid students of Madison High."

Tips for winter driving

Getting ready for winter driving involves much more than a cold weather change of oil and a tune-up, according to Granite City's chief of police, Ronald J. Veizer.

To illustrate his point, the chief listed winter emergency items that should be carried in the trunk of every car. These include:

First aid kit—One of the commercially available auto first aid kits will prove useful in treating minor cuts and bruises of any origin.

Flares (or reflectors)—At least four long-burning, 20-minute flares should be carried. If you should break down or be involved in an accident, mark both front and rear of your car with flares, or at least, reflectors. Flares should not be used when spilled gasoline or oil is present.

Tire chains—Both the National Safety Council and the International Association of Chiefs of Police recommend carrying reinforced tire chains for use in severe weather. Tire chains provide traction for seven times the traction of conventional tires in heavy snow and glare ice.

Battery cables—An essential item in case your battery should fail or you inadvertently leave your lights on. Cables should be of heavy gauge. They should be long enough to connect to your battery and reach at least four feet beyond the outside edge of your fender.

Other items—Carry a flashlight or battery lantern (with fresh batteries), a pair of gloves and a small rug or piece of coarse matting in case you have to change a tire or do other work on your car—day or night. The matting can also be used as a quick traction aid beneath the drive wheels. Be sure a tow chain, sand or rock salt and a shovel are included.

Ends training

As parashutist

Army Private Herbert H. Grammer Jr., whose parents live at 2845 Edgewood Drive, has received a parashutist badge upon completion of the three-week airborne course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

During the first week of training, he underwent a physical training program and received instruction in the theory of parachuting. The second week tested his ability through jumps from the 34-foot and 250-foot towers. The final week he was required to perform five static line parachute jumps.

MRS. JO ANN K. PETRAS, 1433 Second St., Madison, has received an outstanding performance rating from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, St. Louis district. She is employed in the Contract Branch, Procurement and Supply Division.

Exact change is still necessary on all buses. The fare reduction is a result of the passage of the half-cent sales tax by the Missouri State Legislature, St. Louis County Council and the St. Louis Board of Aldermen.

Bus fares to be cut on Monday

Reduced Bi-State Transit bus fares will go into effect Monday. The old 45 cents fare will be cut to 25 cents, express fares will be reduced from 50 cents to 30 cents and a new all-purpose weekly pass will cost $3.50, down from $5.75.

The 10-cent transfer and zone-change fares will remain in effect. Included in the general fare reduction is a special senior citizens fare of only 15 cents between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. and after 6 p.m. on weekdays and any time on weekends and holidays.

To qualify for this 15-cent fare, senior citizens must be 65 or older and have proper identification. Initially a Medicare card will be used; later a special ID card will be required.

Exact change is still necessary on all buses. The fare reduction is a result of the passage of the half-cent sales tax by the Missouri State Legislature, St. Louis County Council and the St. Louis Board of Aldermen.
